Steel Talks Sidetracked Temporarily

Union Negotiators To Seek Aluminum Industry Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Steel labor talks have been sidetracked temporarily to let union negotiators try for an aluminum industry agreement. A contract there could influence the steel situation.

The government called off Thursday the steel talks it has been sponsoring. Director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said the bargaining wasn't making any progress despite stepped-up efforts after President Eisenhower's latest appeal.

No time was fixed for their resumption. Asked whether it would be a matter of days or weeks, Finnegan replied "it won't be a matter of weeks, I'm sure."

Finnegan noted the Steelworkers Union recently concluded a labor peace pact with major can manufacturers, and are negotiating with the top aluminum producers — Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser.

The aluminum talks have just resumed in Chicago, ahead of a Jan. 1 strike deadline. David J. McDonald, Steelworkers Union president, had planned to join the aluminum talks even if steel negotiations had continued.

"There is no point holding steel meetings without the key people," Finnegan told newsmen.

"It is to be hoped that when we resume our mediation sessions in the steel dispute, a settlement area will emerge which will make it easier or the parties to reconcile their present differences."

However, the steel talks were called off exactly one week after Eisenhower called for round-the-clock steel bargaining.

Officials obviously were hopeful for an aluminum settlement. McDonald's union represents about 33,000 workers employed by the big three aluminum producers. An agreement in aluminum following the can settlement probably would increase pressure for settlement of the steel dispute.

Mayor Delays Action On Bills Hiking Wages

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence has signed three run-of-the-mill pieces of legislation approved by Council Monday night, but 5 ordinances that would increase the wages and salaries of municipal employees and officials-elect Jan. 1 still are awaiting his signature.

In response to a query today, the mayor said he "hasn't had a chance to get to" legislation that gives $50-a-month increase to department heads, grants a general 5 per cent boost to other appointive city workers and increases the salaries for the terms beginning Jan. 1 for the mayor, councilmen, Council president and treasurer.

State law allows the mayor 10 days in which to act. If he does not approve the legislation, he must return it to Council within 10 days, along with his objections, the law says. If he does not return the legislation within 10 days after adoption, the legislation becomes law as though he had signed it "unless Council by adjournment has permitted the return."

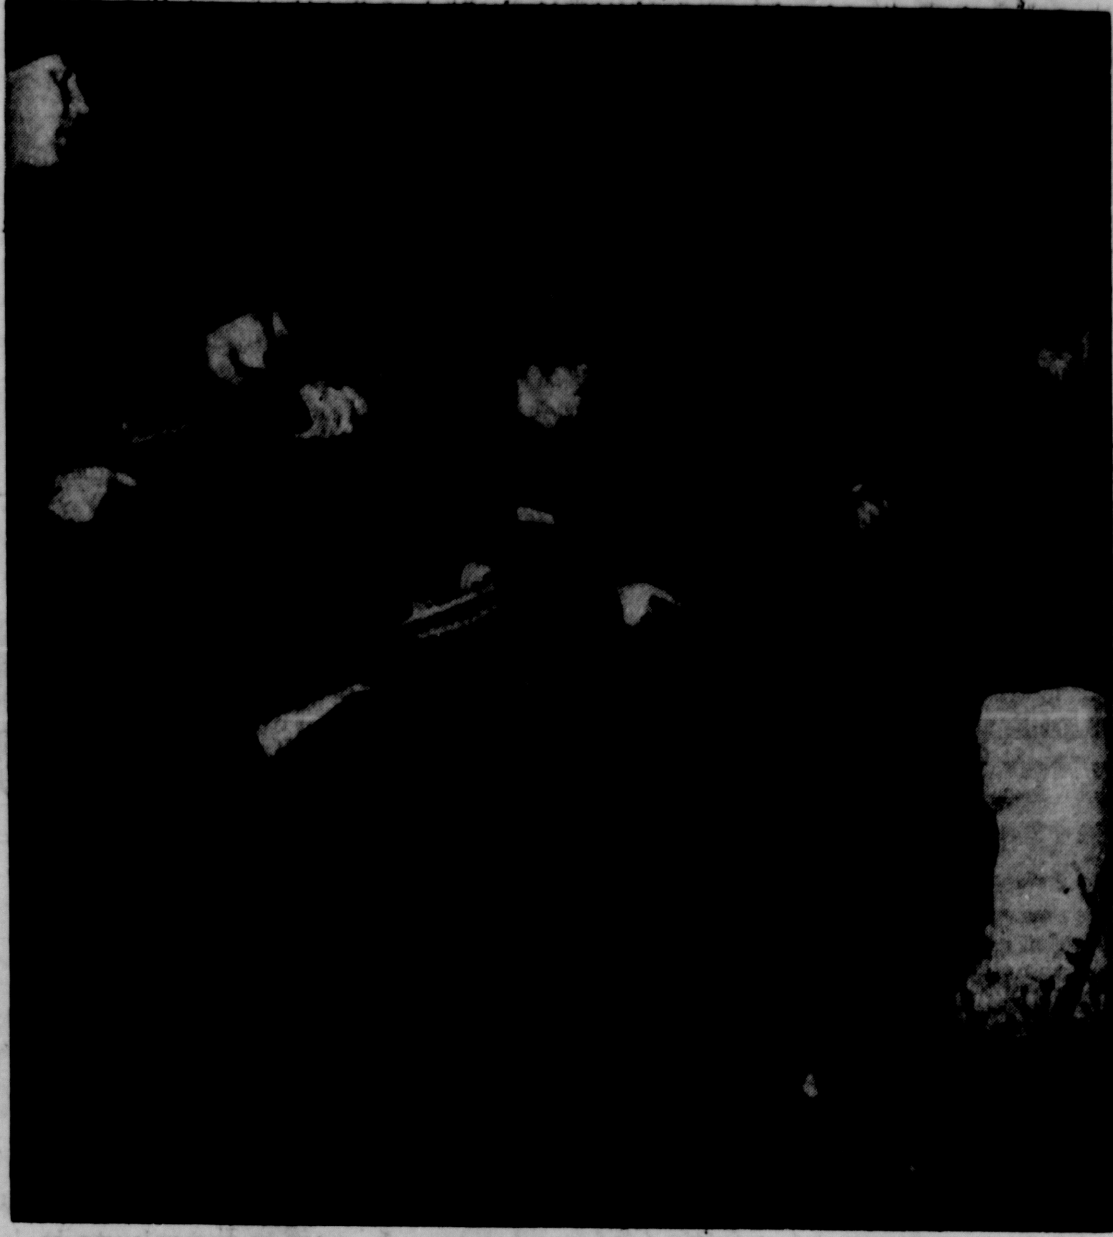

Council must wait 10 days before acting to override a piece of legislation that has been vetoed. Then it must muster a two-thirds vote to override the veto.

Mayor Lawrence said the legislation he has approved includes: A resolution for rippapping the bank of the River Rd. with stone and installing 2,000 feet of new guardrail; an ordinance granting a 5-year franchise on the Wellsville bus line to Inter-City Transit Co. and a resolution to pay a $24 claim for auto damage.

The franchise ordinance will be passed on to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, as the city also must obtain the signature of John W. Young, operator of the bus line, the mayor said.

Meanwhile, Safety - Service Director Joseph F. Ross said the city is moving ahead with plans to advertise for contractors' bids on 3 projects authorized recently by Council, including the River Rd. work, erection of a $12,000 building to store incinerator department equipment and repairs to City Hall estimated to cost about $2,500.

The River Rd. and City Hall projects will be advertised as soon as the legal notices are prepared by the solicitor, he said. In connection with the garage for the incinerator, Engineer George S. Bloomgren is scheduled to complete work today on plans and specifications which must be available before bids are sought, he said.

MARTIAL LAW. National Guard members used fixed bayonets to disperse 500 to 600 strikers in front of the Wilson & Co. packing plant at Albert Lea, Minn., before dawn today. Martial law was declared to end violence at the plant. (UPI Telephoto)

Martial Law Declared In Minnesota

Mob At Strike-Torn Plant Dispersed By Guardsmen

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP) — National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets dispersed a jeering crowd of several hundred persons at the strike-torn Wilson Packing Co. plant today to back up Gov. Orville Freeman's declaration of martial law in Freeborn County. The crowd was apparently hooting not at the soldiers but at non-union production workers whom the guardsmen turned away from the Wilson gates as they reported for work this morning.

The guard, moving swiftly after the governor's call to maintain law and order, shut down the Wilson plant to all but non-union supervisory and clerical workers. The production workers, hired by Wilson to replace striking union workmen, showed up in numbers today apparently before they got word the troops were called out and the plant shut down. A detachment of 80 guardsmen arrived at the plant on the edge of this southern Minnesota city of 13,500 shortly before daybreak. They formed two groups on either side of the main plant entrance. Col. Paul V. Meyer of Mankato read an order which said no more than three persons could gather in any group in the immediate packing plant area, and no more than 50 in downtown Albert Lea and across the highway from the plant itself.

Two days of violence at the giant packing plant were touched off Wednesday night when a thousand massed pickets blocked non-union workers from leaving the plant, overturned cars and hurled rocks. Three or four persons received minor injuries.

Thursday the non-union workmen Wilson has been using ran through a rain or rocks both going to work in the morning and going home at night.

Mayor Niles Shoff of Albert Lea and County Atty. O. Russell Olson then appealed to the governor for troops.

The striking United Packinghouse Workers Union has been without a contract at Wilson since Sept. 1. Wilson broke off negotiations Oct. 29 when union workers refused to work a nine-hour day.

Two weeks ago Wilson warned union employees they would be replaced if they did not return to work. On Nov. 30 Wilson began production with non-union help.

Cancer Scare Flares Up

Sale Of Poultry Fattened With Hormone Is Banned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government, using a don't-get-excited approach, has announced a ban on sales of poultry fattened with a hormone which can cause cancer.

The hormone is called diethylstilbestrol, or stilbestrol.

Its use in fattening poultry is being discontinued, and birds already grown with its use are being voluntarily taken off the market, it was announced.

But with last month's cranberry scare still echoing, officials gave these added assurances to housewives about stilbestrol-treated poultry:

If you have a chicken in the refrigerator, feel safe to use it if the skin, liver and kidneys are discarded. No residue of the synthetic hormone has been found in the white or dark meat.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming told a news conference

Thursday of the voluntary program.

He said authorized manufacturers of stilbestrol for use in poultry have agreed to suspend its sale immediately. The poultry and retail food industries have been asked to arrange for an immediate halt to the sale of stilbestrol-treated birds.

Flemming said he had talked with retail food and poultry representatives and was confident they would suspend such sales.

The hormone has been used in only about 1 per cent of the poultry grown in the United States—mostly in birds sold in the New York City and Los Angeles markets.

Flemming said stilbestrol induces cancer in test animals when it is fed to them over comparatively long periods of time. Only minute residues of the hormone have been found in the skins, livers and kidneys of market poultry, he added.

Salem Teacher To Run For Legislative Post

Ben Barrett, a teacher of civics and mathematics in the Salem High School, today announced he will seek nomination in the coming Democratic primary May 3 for one of two representatives from Columbiana County to the General Assembly.

A teacher for 27 years, Barrett has served in the Salem schools for 19 years, also taught law and American government and was a football coach for 13 years. Although this is his first bid for office, his family has been active in politics. A brother, Dick Barrett, is clerk of the Municipal Court in Youngstown and was formerly president of Council there. Another brother, Tom Barrett, is a state representative from Mahoning County and was formerly chairman of the Unemployment Relief Board under Gov. Lausche. He is married and has five children.

Grand Jury Winds Up With Building's Tour

BEAVER — The Beaver County Grand Jury toured county institutions and buildings Thursday after ending its investigation of criminal cases.

Some 12 true bills and 4 not true were returned Wednesday. There were no Midland cases.

Trials for those indicted will begin Monday for a two-week petit jury session.

Yule Tree Lights Glow

NEW YORK (AP)—The lights on Rockefeller Plaza's annual Christmas tree are glowing again. About 5,000 persons watched Thursday night as more than 4,000 red, white and green globes on the 70-foot Norwegian spruce flashed on.

Ringleader Captured; 6 Remain Free

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP)—Charles W. (Yank) Stewart, 52, described as the ringleader of Tuesday's escape of 20 men from North Carolina's Ivy Bluff Prison, was captured here early today after a high speed chase that resulted from a police officer's hunch.

The Wilmington, N.C., convict was nabbed when the car he was driving failed to make a curve at the north end of the Smith River bridge and flipped about 30 feet to the edge of the river.

Stewart's arrest left at large only six of the escapees. Two of them believed to have been with Stewart as late as Thursday are being sought in the Lynchburg-Roanoke, Va. area.

Before Stewart was caught, eight others had been taken into custody in Virginia, four in Ohio and one near the prison shortly after the mass break. None offered any resistance.

Yank Stewart was identified positively by State Police Sgt. J. H. Barnes after first giving the name of Woodrow Stewart. One of the escapees still at large is Woodrow Stewart, 38, of Boone, N.C.

He was driving south on U.S. 220 at the northern edge of Martinsville when Martinsville officer Roy Emerson decided to check on the car because it bore city tags from Roanoke, where a car had been reported stolen.

When he ordered the car to stop, Emerson said the vehicle roared away. Emerson pursued the car through Martinsville and was joined by state and Henry County police.

Stewart jumped from the car after it crashed through the bridge and ran. He was captured by State Trooper J. E. Peveall and Henry County officer L. D. Witt. Barnes said Stewart was armed with a .38 caliber revolver.

Car Kills Father Of 5

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—A car early today struck and killed John J. Bires, 44, father of five, on a Youngstown street.

Worldwide Drive Urged Ike Calls For War Against Hunger As Step Toward Peace

Ike's Voice Gains Power For Summit

Triumphal Tour Of Asia Pointing Up President's Strength

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — President Eisenhower's triumphal tour of Asia powerfully strengthens his voice for the East-West summit conference with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Eisenhower can sit down at the conference table backed by the cheers of millions of Asians who regard him as a symbol of peace with freedom.

Khrushchev will be facing a man who is proving to be his superior in appealing to Asia's teaming, underfed masses as a champion of their aspirations.

The hysterical, sometimes worshipful, reception in Turkey, Pakistan, Afghanistan and India also may stimulate Eisenhower to exert more leadership at the Western summit session, opening in Paris Dec. 19, which begins shaping the West's negotiating position.

The diplomatic showdown with Khrushchev comes later, perhaps in April.

The frenzied reception by 1½ million Indians Wednesday stands out as a high point in the first week of Eisenhower's unprecedented goodwill trip.

Eisenhower and his top aides have been flabbergasted by the crowds which seemed to grow bigger and more deliriously enthusiastic at each stop.

Even before setting out, Eisenhower said he felt it his duty to make the tour because his name meant something in these areas and it might help in the quest for an enduring peace. The President was understating.

In each country he has visited, the government has directly or indirectly encouraged the people to show they like Ike. But the fervor of spectators and the obvious sincerity of their cheers show the majority would have turned out anyhow.

In the displays of public enthusiasm, these factors appear to stand out.

1. Eisenhower the man has an international asset that Khrushchev can't match, his personality. 2. Eisenhower comes at a time when these peoples are linked in a common fear of communism, either the Soviet or Red Chinese variety. Eisenhower is regarded as the symbol of a powerful friend and potential partner in battle against aggression.

Condition Of Car Crash Survivor Termed 'Fair'

The condition of Mrs. Dorothy L. Hurst, 1508 Pennsylvania Ave., who was injured seriously Wednesday near Clinton in a car accident that killed her companion, was reported today to be improving but still only "fair" at Seewickley Valley Hospital.

Mrs. Hurst was on the critical list until Thursday morning. Mrs. June Duncan O'Rourke, 46, of Lisbon Rd., was injured fatally. Mrs. Hurst is a nurse at the Osteopathic Hospital as was Mrs. O'Rourke.

Beaver Local To Air Salary Hike Proposal

An increased pay scale for Beaver Local School District personnel, in line with a revised state foundation program effective in January, is to be considered by the Board of Education at a meeting Monday night at 8 at the Public School.

The board will also discuss hiring replacements for two women high school teachers who have asked leaves, study equipment insurance and discuss transportation matters, according to George VanHorne, executive head.

$650 Taken At Salem

Bandits Tie Up 2, Threaten Another In Motel Robbery

SALEM — Two gun-carrying robbers held up the Barnett Motel along Route 62 early today and escaped with $650 in cash and $165 in checks after binding two persons and threatening a third.

They fled in a waiting car with an accomplice. Deputy Sheriff James Miller said none of the victims was harmed, although one of the bandits threatened a pistol slugging. The robbery occurred at 12:29 at the office of the motel three miles west.

The two men were admitted to the motel office by Berdena Berger, an employee, after they rang the night bell. They requested a double room, and as she went in back of the register, one followed her with a gun.

His companion walked to a door from where he could see Nick and Lena Rini, owners of the motel, who were watching television in another room.

The two men then ordered Miss Berger to go into the room with the Rinis, and they followed. All were then ordered into the bathroom.

The pair tied Rini's hands behind him with friction tape, and ordered him to lie on the living-room floor. Miss Berger's hands were then bound in back of her with her scarf, and she lay down along side of Rini.

They grabbed Mrs. Rini and were about to tie her, but she pleaded she couldn't place her arms in back of her as she is large and heavy. One of the men ordered his companion to slug her but she was instead forced to lie with the others without being tied.

One of the robbers held a gun on them while the other ransacked the quarters. They took the cash drawer from the adjoining restaurant, the motel cash register, a savings box and three money bags provided by Salem banks.

Miss Berger said that as the trio drove up to the motel in a black 1954 or 1955 Ford, she glanced at the license and believed it

Cuba Arrests 2nd Reporter, Releases Him

U.S. Newsman Held; American Fugitive Captured In Havana

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime today arrested but later released a British newsman. Still held was reporter James Buchanan of the Miami Herald, seized on charges that he was aiding Frank Austin Young, an American sentenced by a Castro military court.

The British correspondent is Ian Aitken, representing Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers. He was seized after returning from an investigation of Young's escape from jail in Pinar del Rio. On his release, Aitken said he had been asked if he knew a man named Buckman. His questioners apparently were referring to the Miami reporter.

Agents who arrested Buchanan said he was entering the hotel room in which they recaptured Young Thursday.

A U.S. Embassy representative said he understood officials planned to take Buchanan before a Havana judge and charge him with having been Young's accomplice, on the ground he tried to help a fugitive.

Young, a 38-year-old pilot-adventurer from Miami, was sentenced to 30 years in prison Tuesday in Pinar del Rio for conspiring against Castro's government. He escaped Wednesday and made his way to Havana, but his freedom lasted less than 48 hours.

Later Shopping Hours Planned Again Tonight

East Liverpool stores will be open again tonight until 8:30 as shoppers head toward the home stretch in the gift-buying rush. Downtown streets and stores were crowded Thursday night, when the stores also were open until 8:30.

Three 11-hour shopping days are scheduled next week. The stores will be open from 9:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. Monday, Thursday and Friday. They also will operate until 5 p. m. next Wednesday instead of closing at noon.

City Freeway Plans Snarled By Crossing

U.S., State Agencies Continue Debate On Type Of Interchange

Negotiation between federal and state agencies over the type of interchange that will be used at the W. 8th St. "super-road" is continuing to delay completion of plans for the first stage of a California Hollow-West End freeway, city officials learned in a conference Thursday afternoon with spokesmen for the Highway Department and a private engineering concern.

The 90-minute discussion on progress on preparation of plans was held in the office of Mayor Fred P. Lawrence with officials of the Division 11 Highway Department office in New Philadelphia and representatives of Michael Baker Jr. Inc., of Rochester, the consulting engineering firm that holds the contract for the plans.

Joseph Mundo and Samuel Kennedy, representing the Baker concern, explained that there still has been no final agreement between the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the State Highway Department office at Columbus on the type of interchange that will be used at the point where the new four-lane highway will cross the existing four-lane East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road."

Although Baker has a Feb. 1 deadline to submit completed plans to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency — which is in charge of federal financing of the planning work — the commitment could not be met "even if approval came today" on the interchange question, Mundo said.

Mundo said the engineering concern has "three solid months of work" ahead to complete the plans after receiving the decision on the interchange.

The status of the planning work actually has changed little since last July, when the last full-dress review was held here to discuss the progress.

However, Mundo said the plans are approximately 75 per cent complete.

Division 11 was represented by William McKenna, who is in charge of the office, and Robert Jenkins, planning and design engineer.

'4-F' Theme Of U.S. Cited In Fair Talk

Promises India Of America's Aid For 'Prosperous Lives'

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Eisenhower today called upon all nations to wage together a "genuinely noble war" against hunger and famine, the scourges of India and much of this part of the world.

The President, making three speeches in the course of a busy day, continued to be the center of almost worshipful masses of people.

"Men right now possess knowledge and resources for a successful worldwide war against hunger — the sort of war that dignifies and exalts human beings," he declared in opening the dramatic American pavilion at New Delhi's World Agricultural Fair.

In two earlier speeches he:

1. Called for an expansion of the universal recognition of world law as a sound basis of peace. 2. Declared summit conferences of the big powers have less enduring influence for peace than exchanges of students and people-to-people contacts.

A surging, colorful crowd of 10,000 Indians jammed the enclosed field at the fair to hear the President term India a mighty influence for world peace and pledge American help toward solving this nation's critical food shortages.

Crowds numbering hundreds of thousands lined the route to the fair grounds, cheering Eisenhower as he passed by with Indian President Rajendra Prasad in an open horse-drawn coach under a red and gold umbrella.

As the ceremonies ended, the sun was sinking and colored lights playing on the stand gave a brilliant glow to Indian dancers in ornate costumes performing before the President.

Eisenhower was praised by Prime Minister Nehru as a great man and a great president.

"You have found yourself in the hearts of my millions," Nehru declared.

Eisenhower said India and the United States are working together to solve India's food problem. "Whatever strengthens India strengthens us, a sister republic dedicated to peace," he said.

Eisenhower cited the "Four-F" theme of the American exhibit at the 14-nation fair — food, family, friendship and freedom.

"Into these four words are compressed the daily needs, high purposes, deep feelings and ageless aspirations that unite Indians and Americans under one banner—the banner of human dignity," the President declared.

Eisenhower pledged that America will continue cooperating with India to achieve a world free of hunger in which families can live full, prosperous lives and in which friendship replaces fear and suspicion.

"We see in modern agriculture the most effective instrument for a better life among all men," he said.

Wellsville Youth Fined
In City Traffic Mishap

Sidney Winland, 19, of 1127 1/2 Main St., Wellsville, was fined $10 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way to a car after a collision late Wednesday afternoon at Peach Alley and Summit Ln.

Winland was cited in connection with a crash that involved his auto and a car driven by Mrs. Ruby V. Dailey of Anderson Blvd. His hearing was continued from Thursday morning.

Meanwhile, Donald C. Hall of Georgetown forfeited two bonds totaling $27 on charges for which he was cited at 11:56 p. m. Thursday. Hall was accused of driving 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," for which he forfeited $16, and crashing a stop sign at E. 4th St. and Pennsylvania Ave., for which he forfeited $11.

Drivers Deny
Fault In Crash

A Chester woman and a Pleasant Heights man each blamed the other for a collision Thursday at 7:23 p. m. on Market St. near 5th St. that involved an auto and a truck, police said. It was one of three minor crashes reported overnight.

The disputed accident involved a 1955 two-door sedan driven by Edward R. Oliver, 23, of 1284 Oakwood Ave. and a 1947 truck operated by Mrs. Ruth Ellen Cornell, 28, of 3rd St. Ext., Chester.

The mishap damaged the hood of Oliver's car, but there was no apparent damage to the truck, police said. Oliver told police he was halted in the traffic lane when the woman backed into his car. Mrs. Cornell told police she was pulling into the curb to discharge a passenger when the auto ran into the rear of the truck.

A mishap at Drury Ln. and Crook Alley at 8:42 p. m. yesterday involved a 1956 sedan driven by Carl D. Bell, 35, of 1799 1/2 Clark Ave., Wellsville, and a vehicle operated by Donald Van Dyne of LaCroft, officers said. The report is incomplete, as VanDyne is scheduled to report to headquarters to give data regarding his part in the mishap.

A mishap at St. Clair Ave. and Morton St. at 11:59 a. m. Thursday involved a 1953 two-door sedan driven by Allen Wynn Mercer, 17, of 420 Morton St., and a 1956 sedan driven by Franklin J. Lovas, 43, of 1065 Jennings Ave.

Mercer was turning from St. Clair onto Morton and Lovas was southbound on St. Clair, officers said. Mercer was cited as a juvenile traffic offender.

38 In Night Class
To Get Diplomas

Some 38 diplomas will be given Thursday evening at Midland Lincoln High School during last classes of a 10-week night school which began Oct. 5.

Registration for new classes will be held Jan. 11-12, Principal William Walters said. Classes will begin Jan. 18. They are usually held on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

Classes will be the same as offered now. To form a class, 20 or more people must register, except for the comptometer class, which requires only 10.

Classes offered include Americanization, arts and crafts, comptometer, electricity, metallurgy, physical education, sewing, shorthand, typing and woodworking. Applications for adult driver training may be made any time with Gerald LaValle, instructor.

City Driver Uninjured
In Beaver Collision

An East Liverpool motorist was reported uninjured in a head-on collision Thursday at 5 p. m. on Route 51 near Monaca in Beaver County.

Clyde Leroy Barker, 35, of 2140 Ohio Ave., was unhurt. Center Township police reported that a car driven by Donald James Dierdorf of Monaca attempted to make a left turn in the path of the Barker auto.

About $500 damage was reported to both cars.

Labor Council City Freeway
Vote Expense
Plans Snarled

Trades and Labor Council spent $457.15 in the campaign prior to the Nov. 3 general election, according to a report filed with the County Election Board by Joseph A. Winters, secretary.

The report did not list the issues on which Trades Council campaigned, but the spending obviously was in a drive against a city income tax and for an advertisement that endorsed the Democratic ticket. Receipted bills attached to the sworn statement showed the major expenses were $216 for postage, $156 or printing of sample ballots and $84 for newspaper advertising.

It is one of five new reports filed with the Election Board under the "Corrupt Practices Act," which puts a ceiling on campaign spending. Reports are required of all candidates, whether or not they are successful, and committees that supported or opposed candidates or issues.

The City Hospital Association spent $1,605 in a successful campaign for renewal of a three-quarter mill levy, according to a report from W. A. Betz, secretary-treasurer.

The Democratic Club of East Liverpool spent $425, it was shown in the report of Larry Finlay, president.

City Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, the only Republican re-elected in a Democratic sweep, said his campaign cost $71. Mayor Erwood L. Calvin of Columbiana, who was re-elected, said he spent nothing.

More Areas Completed
In Property Appraisal

LISBON — Columbiana County appraisers have completed a check of properties in Lisbon, Leetonia, Sallineville, Washingtonville, New Waterford, Rogers and Summitville corporations and Washington, Wayne and Franklin Townships, according to Adin Kauffman of Columbiana, head of the county's revaluation of real estate.

West, Middleton and Knox Townships are expected to be completed in the next 10 days and the crew has started on East Palestine with Salem next, Kauffman said.

He said appraisal of the affected properties "will start immediately." After appraisal, there generally is a lapse of about 30 days before the first negotiator appears to talk prices with the property owner, he said.

The appraisals will begin at the north city limits and work toward West End, McKenna said. The Baker representatives said they are not certain how much area is covered in the completed plans which have been turned over to McKenna's office, but they believe it extends from the city limits roughly to W. 9th St.

But the plans for the area in the immediate vicinity of W. 8th St. will not be completed until the interchange question is settled, they said.

Although July 1 is the earliest possible date at which the freeway construction could begin, the state will ask property-owners who are agreeable to move out as soon as possible after their homes have been purchased, McKenna said. That's because the Highway Department will seek to have the right-of-way cleared as well as possible before a contractor moves in to begin construction, he explained.

Some properties along the outer limits of the right-of-way which are unaffected under the present plans eventually make be acquired for the project if there are changes in plans in the meantime, McKenna said. For instance, if there is a change in the required slopes along the right-of-way or an alteration in drainage plans, the project might hit homes that at present seem unaffected, he said.

The Highway Department has recommended that the federal agency approve plans for a "collector-distributor lane" as part of the interchange. The "collector-distributor" is an extra lane for a short stretch to permit motorists to accelerate or slow down to match the speed of other traffic when entering or leaving the highway at the interchange.

Without the "collector-distributor," traffic entering or leaving the highway would have to make the turning or merging movements from the same lanes as traffic moving at normal highway speeds of up to 60 miles an hour.

Bloomgren pointed out that planning work has been under way 19 months, although the original estimate called for completion in 9 months. Mundo replied that the work has proceeded as far as possible until there is a decision on the interchange.

Sections of plans which have been completed — covering areas nearest the north city limits — already have been forwarded to the New Philadelphia office in order that it can begin acquiring property that will be affected by the project, McKenna said.

Sign Of Mutual Admiration

The size and behavior of welcoming crowds is not always an accurate measure of the genuine feeling between a distinguished visitor and his hosts, so it probably is too early in President Eisenhower's 22,000-mile journey to draw general conclusions about the success of his good will mission.

But a specific conclusion about the No. 2 stop in his itinerary is safe: The mutual expressions of warm friendship between Ike and the Turks were real. They have been backed up over some critical years by day-in-day-out action based on trust and unity of purpose.

Turkey has remained one of the staunchest allies of the United States. This is true despite the fact that the stakes are as high for her as for other nations and the odds are frequently against her.

IN CONTRAST to most other small countries of the Middle East, part of Turkey's border touches on the Soviet Union. This alone has brought her more than a fair share of the pressure Moscow can apply by merely rattling sabers.

Because of her geographic position, Turkey is one of the really strategic links in the NATO and Baghdad Pact security chain. She has held fast when other, seemingly stronger links threatened to break or actually gave way.

Her government has been subjected to the same internal pressures that have driven other Middle East politicians to rash moves they later regretted. But Turkish leaders have never swayed from their conviction that the best chance of progress toward peace and freedom lies with the United States and its western allies.

When nearly all of the rest of the Middle East seemed to be losing their heads—and sometimes blaming it on Turkey or the United States—the Turks kept their minds stubbornly focused on what they saw as right.

Beyond all this, the Turks have never failed to respond when actual fighting had to be done. Neither have they failed to win the utmost respect of both their allies and their adversaries in the way they carried out their end of the bargain.

ONE OF THE REASONS for this steadfastness is that the United States never let Turkey down. It has shown it recognizes true friendship and is willing and able to respond in kind.

So the words and gestures exchanged between President Eisenhower and thousands of cheering Turks as he passed among them were not empty symbols of hollow feelings. They were genuine expressions of mutual respect and admiration.

If every crowd that greets him between now and Dec. 22 is as meaningful as Ankara's, President Eisenhower will bring back to his countrymen a confidence in the world's appreciation and understanding beyond their finest hopes.

Hungary Revisited

GOP Hopefuls Seek Labor Backing

By Victor Riesel

Deep inside the Republican Party there is sharp jousting between the camps of Vice President Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for what off-hand may seem like a mighty prize. They're competing for the support of a powerful labor bloc. Both sides believe this is the campaign in which the Republicans can rip strong unions from the Democrats. This is not as strange as it seems.

Victor Riesel

Oddly enough, the support of that bloc could mean the nomination—maybe even the election. It takes a bit of telling and the story might as well begin on the morning of Oct. 25, 1944, in the White House office of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

I was with him and in a position to ask the truly haggard man—as he kept his hand pressed constantly to his forehead—what was the biggest headache of his campaign for a fourth term.

THE LATE PRESIDENT looked up. He was more weary in voice than in mind. He sort of drawled, "Clear it with Sidney." He referred to the report, which shook this country, that he had told Democratic Party leaders to clear the choice of a vice presidential candidate with the late Sidney Hillman, then head of the cracklingly controversial CIO Political Action Committee.

Now years later, on the evening of this past Nov. 16, to be exact, Harry Truman explained that Roosevelt's headache just a bit more, Mr. Truman made history by saying, in effect, that he had the nomination without clearing anything with Hillman. He revealed this to some labor leaders in Kansas City's Hotel Muehbach.

Mr. Truman said he had wanted to run with FDR. So he simply went to the late Philip Murray, then head of the CIO, and to the late William Green, then head of the AFL, and asked them to go to Roosevelt in his behalf.

They liked him. They went. They got Roosevelt's promise. And "That is how I got the nomination," and later became president, said Mr. Truman.

WHAT IMPRESSED insiders back in 1944 was that FDR, though powerful, believed there was a vote which labor could get out. More important, he thought that many, many independent voters went as labor did. That's why he took Truman. He wanted that independent vote.

Whether Roosevelt was right or wrong, every Republican national campaign director since that '44 election has attempted to win support from an important labor bloc.

Since the CIO group was out of the question the GOP candidates, Thomas Dewey and Dwight Eisenhower, sought friends in the more conservative AFL—mostly among the influential 3-million-member Building and Construction Trades Unions. Mr. Dewey got some. Mr. Eisenhower did not.

Now we find history repeating itself. There is a general feeling in some Republican circles that the GOP hopeful who can walk into the convention with labor support will have the edge on the other. Mr. Rockefeller's people say they have that backing—especially in the Construction Trades. In New York, this is certainly true. Vast Rockefeller Center was erected without a single strike.

BUT IT IS ALSO true that the Nixon camp has its support among the powerful Construction Trades Unions especially in Washington. It is Labor Secretary Jim Mitchell, now the political Pythias to Mr.

Nixon's Damon, who is welding this strength for the vice president. This is not a new field for the secretary of labor. In 1940 Mitchell was chief of the labor relations division of the Army construction program.

Then he was named director of the civilian personnel division for the Services of Supply of the War Department. He doubled as a member of the National Building Trades Stabilization Board, the Joint Army-Navy Personnel Board and as an alternate for the Under Secretary of War on the War Manpower Commission. There were other such posts.

They threw Mitchell into close contact with the unions—especially the construction outfits. All these threads he has picked up. At first he wove them together in a vague hope that he could be Dick Nixon's running mate—the vice presidential candidate "cleared" by many of the powerful, old-line, once-Republican Construction Unions. Now he doesn't care if he runs for vice president or not.

Mitchell wants to walk into the national Republican convention alongside Dick Nixon with pledges of labor support for his friend. This would mean that Nelson Rockefeller would not have them. In a close contest it could count—even in the GOP.

Technique Of The Soft Word

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower's White House years, drawing toward a close, have introduced a new kind of politics in 20th century America: The technique of the soft word.

Whether or not you like or admire him, this is a fact: He went into office a highly popular war hero and has remained not only extremely popular but amazingly free of personal criticism.

We are now looking for a good example.

The four Democratic senators being mentioned as presidential possibilities—John F. Kennedy, Hubert H. Humphrey, Stuart W. Symington, and Lyndon B. Johnson—are talking critically of the Eisenhower administration.

They even take oblique cracks at Eisenhower by saying what this country needs is leadership. But all of them are avoiding criticism of Eisenhower personally and by name.

He has remained so popular they might find it unpopular for themselves to do otherwise.

The President's present trip abroad is another illustration: Everywhere he goes he is widely welcomed since, no matter how Europeans and Asians may feel about the United States, their image of Eisenhower is that of a friendly, well-intentioned man.

It may be argued, since America has been so generous with aid to them and remains their chief protection against communism, that in welcoming Eisenhower they are in effect saying hello to Santa Claus.

But then you have to remember the Soviets always speak well of him, too. This becomes understandable in terms of Eisenhower himself when you look back over the record of what he has said since becoming President.

You almost never find him talking in terms which could be considered provocative or belligerent or hostile. Instead, he has emphasized patience and restraint even when talking firmly.

In addition, he has carefully avoided personal attacks on others, thus depriving them of any excuse for attacking him personally.

All this is in contrast to the attitude of many people, at home and abroad, toward, say, former presidents Truman and Roosevelt who were often up to their necks in fights.

It might be argued here that if Eisenhower had been as willing as Truman and Roosevelt to initiate new and controversial programs, and fight as they did for them, he'd be hit with brickbats, too.

But their temperaments were different from Eisenhower's. Both were more belligerent and both were more aggressive toward others, especially in showing irritation toward opponents.

Eisenhower, for instance, had plenty of excuse for hitting back at the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy but avoided it. He could have lashed out, but didn't, at Premier Nikita Khrushchev for some of the difficulties the Soviet created.

Whether or not all this adds up to the best kind of leadership is another, and long, discussion in itself. But certainly Eisenhower has been popular and free from abuse.

This soft-word technique of Eisenhower may have a moderating effect on his White House successor if only because it has proved politically so successful for Eisenhower. If this much is granted.

That a successful politician is one who, through retaining high popularity, can get himself re-elected. By that definition, no one can argue Eisenhower has not been successful.

Some critics may argue that the key to Eisenhower's popularity is the result of his letting his lieutenants carry the load so that, if there is blame, it will be directed at them and not at him.

This doesn't hold water: Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson and the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were beaten over the head for years for their policies. But Eisenhower didn't hide behind them. Instead, he supported them fully all the way.

That argument is fallacious for another reason: Truman and Roosevelt lieutenants—like Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes—were bespattered for years. But so were Truman and Roosevelt.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. John Strabley was named president of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Salineville.

A committee of East Liverpool women, headed by Mrs. Harvey McHenry, appealed for cooperation in plans for the visit of Santa to the 193 inmates of the Fairmount Children's home near Alliance.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Life-size metal figures of West Virginia state policemen were purchased for Newell Wells High School.

John Greene led the City bowling league with an average of 157 for 30 games.

Richard O. Wilson of East Liverpool, past master of the West Point Grange, was elected president of the annual Lisbon Farmers Institute.

TEN YEARS AGO — With the sale of colored oleo-margarine becoming legal, East Liverpool retailers were divided as to whether they would handle the product.

Joseph Hibbard was named president of the Midland Board of Education.

Fireman David Anderson was elected president of Local 24, International Association of Fire Fighters.

An Aroused Public

By David Lawrence

Pressure Grows For Legal Curb On Strikes

Just as James R. Hoffa was unwittingly responsible for the anti-racketeering legislation passed by Congress at its last session, so David McDonald, also unwittingly, may be responsible for the enactment of the most severe legislation in history to prevent America from being damaged again by another big David Lawrence strike. When a potential candidate for the presidency on the Democratic ticket—Adlai Stevenson—feels obliged to make a public plea for restrictive labor legislation, it is a sign that public opinion is aroused and that both political parties must pay attention to such sentiment.

Normally the Democratic candidates would be expected to pussy-foot on the issue or suppress their feelings on any labor question lest the union leaders be offended. But it is apparent now that the rank and file of the union members and their wives, as well as the general public, are truly alarmed about the bungling way in which the steel negotiations have been handled.

Adlai Stevenson's speech Tuesday is the most significant utterance this year on labor issues by any political figure.

HE SAID: "The steel strike has dramatized the fact that we are at the end of an era. Everybody is agreed that this cannot happen again; that the public interest is the paramount interest, and that irresponsible private power is an intolerable danger to our beleaguered society."

"And if there are more stoppages, Congress may be expected to reflect the public temper in legislation, which would not only stop strikes but might stop or seriously cripple collective bargaining, too."

Mr. Stevenson reminded his listeners that he had made similar suggestions in 1952 for arbitration, but he now adds this proposal:

"The president should have authority to convene a special public board—a board of public responsibility—well in advance of the strike date in any key industry, perhaps as listed by Congress."

"The board would meet with the parties to the dispute. It would express the public interest to the parties, keep the president advised and perform whatever mediation functions appeared advisable."

"ITS EFFECTIVENESS would be immeasurably enhanced by the parties' knowledge that the board's final responsibility—if its efforts at mediation fail—would recommend to the president what further action should be taken."

"If the parties were unable or unwilling to resolve their dispute, to exercise responsibility consonant with their power—then I would see no reasonable objection to requiring that the dispute be taken out of their hands entirely; that the president be authorized in that case to require in one form or another that production be continued while the dispute was resolved by process of reason rather than by subjecting the economy to grievous injury."

Mr. Stevenson declared that, with the development of industry-wise bargaining, "decisions affecting the entire economy are made by a small group of men sitting at a single table, and the public has no alternative to accepting those decisions."

He added: "I think it (the public) is entitled to be represented at that table in the restricted sense I have suggested."

This and other proposals now being advanced are symptomatic of the deep feeling aroused by the damage done in the steel strike. No matter how the controversy itself is settled, there will be a demand for legislation.

For the belated agreement reached between the parties cannot possibly restore the losses of the union members in wages, of the companies in profits, and of the U.S. Treasury in tax receipts. These losses are too big to be ignored and do not by any means include all the injury done to the American productive machine at a time of stiff competition with the Soviet Union.

THE QUESTION of who was to blame will be argued endlessly. Certainly there has been little disagreement on wages. The real clash is on working rules. The union leaders have arbitrarily refused to discuss changes. They have refused also to submit the issue to arbitration. They have mistakenly resorted to epithets and clichés about alleged plots to "bust the unions."

But the need for changing the working rules is a condition and not just a theory, and the employers have agreed to submit the issue to arbitration with the understanding that the report need not be made until the middle of next year.

The companies want the subject tackled seriously. The union leaders are adamant in refusing to do so, and that's where they have misjudged public opinion.

The speech of Adlai Stevenson, a prominent Democrat and a friend of labor, is a sign of the changing times. Union-leader politicians can no longer rely on the politicians in government to take care of their battles with employers.

For this time the public, which is bigger in vote-power than all the unions and corporations, is demanding an end to the irresponsible use of economic power by private groups.

Surplus Peddlers

By Donald J. Sorensen

GARDEN CITY, KAN.

A group of farmers from the prairie states have joined forces to take the surplus wheat problem into their own hands.

Their idea is to sell the world on wheat through a vast, international promotional campaign.

The group is called the Great Plains Wheat Market Development Assn., Inc., and it works on the theory that something is wrong somewhere when one country has a surplus problem while others are trying to cope with semi-starvation.

The association, headquartered here, was organized only last January but already has offices in Washington, Rotterdam, Lima and New Delhi.

CLIFFORD R. HOPE, the former congressman from Kansas who heads the association, says it is the only market development group entirely financed and controlled by farmers.

Hope is careful to point out that the association does not buy or sell wheat, but confines itself exclusively to developing markets for it around the world. In this, it co-operates closely with the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The association relies on three methods to whet the world's appetite for wheat: It sends survey teams overseas to evaluate markets and to demonstrate the uses of American wheat; it brings foreign groups to the United States for a firsthand look at our crops and mills; and it makes maximum use of trade fairs to publicize the grain.

One of its recent operations, for example, was at a trade fair in Lima, Peru, where it sponsored an exhibit of a model bakery and kitchen and put up a scale model of "Wheat Town, U.S.A."

EACH DAY, more than 1,600 pieces of bread and cake were turned out and shipped to a nearby boys' town—all free of charge. Result of this public relations gesture was a private dinner with the President and Premier of Peru to discuss an increase of U.S. wheat exports to that country.

Letter To The Editor

To the members of East Liverpool city Council: Gentlemen: I read with great interest in the Tuesday edition of The Review an account of the various reasons given for voting against the anti-gambling law.

I was particularly distressed to read that some members thought such a law would have an adverse effect on the fund-raising methods of parent-teacher organizations.

The PTA is non-commercial, non-sectarian and non-partisan. It has five great objectives, three of which are as follows:

1.—To promote the welfare of children and youth in the home, school, church and community.

2.—To raise the standards of home life.

3.—To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth.

These objectives show we are very much in favor of legislation which will better the welfare of our children and community. Any local unit of the PTA which works closely with its county councils and state organizations knows that any fund-raising methods used should have no taint of gambling connected with them. This excludes using raffles, bingo, card parties or any other games of chance for fund-raising purposes.

Therefore, gentlemen, please do not use the parent-teacher association for even a minor reason as an argument against anti-gambling laws. As you can see, we should be one of the first organizations to stand up and be counted among those voting yes for such legislation.

Who Calls Those Scattered Shots?

It is not a matter of consequence, and no one is going to go to the mat over it, but Harry Truman blunderbussed the Democrats at that party conclave in New York last weekend.

When he said Democrats had no use for "self-appointed guardians of liberal thinking," so many party members yelled, "Ouch!" that casualties are still mounting. It's pretty well forgotten now, but in 1956, when the former president was trying to get Averell Harriman nominated by the Democratic convention, he said Adlai Stevenson was working with the "conservatives and reactionaries of both parties" to scuttle the social philosophy of the New Deal-Fair Deal.

On that occasion, Mr. Truman was a self-appointed "guardian of liberal thinking." Mr. Stevenson, who won the nomination with the approval of Democrats who thought he would be a first-rate guardian of liberal thought, learned during his campaign that Mr. Truman had lost his fears; that's what he said on the stump, anyway.

But now here is the same Mr. Truman at a party gathering hinting that something is funny about being what he used to be; namely, a "self-appointed guardian of liberal thinking."

Speaking Of Campaign Issues

It is encouraging to learn that at least one potential presidential candidate recognizes the financial plight of cities as a national problem.

Sen. John Kennedy told members of the American Municipal Assn. the other day that consideration of urban areas in the federal tax program should be at the top of the list of issues in the 1960 campaign.

Whether it will be another matter, and metropolitan officials as well as city taxpayers must be forgiven if they are skeptical about the likelihood that will happen.

They have tried in vain for so long to make themselves heard in Washington on the subject that it has seemed well-nigh impossible any of the politicians on the capital scene ever would sit down and take a long look at what the federal government has been doing to municipal pocketbooks.

The urban communities of this country, with their concentrations of individual and corporate taxpayers, are the primary source of money supply for the federal treasury.

They have carried the skyrocketing burden while facing rapidly expanding needs of their own. And all the time the inroads of the federal government on the aggregate purse have cut down on the cities' proportionate share.

Tapping of the property tax, foundation of local government revenue, now has about reached the limit. Municipal income taxes, resorted to more and more by localities, were limited from the beginning by the magnitude of the federal income tax and the addition in some parts of state income taxes.

Consequently, there probably is not a city in the nation that is free from day-to-day worry over financial crisis of one sort or another. And the guy who had to do the real grass-roots worrying is the taxpayer who must fork over the dollars demanded by each of the levying levels of government.

It is a national problem, close to home and therefore more real to the individual taxpayer than national defense, foreign affairs or any of the other subjects that ordinarily fill out the list of presidential campaign issues.

The year 1960 is not a moment too soon for the city-federal tax relationship to go to the top of the list.

By H. I. Phillips

The Once Over

TV has been guilty of some inexcusably bad practices. Exposures were needed to correct shocking evils, but it can now cry, "Perhaps it was right to dissemble your love, but why must you kick him downstairs?"

It's meant too much to too many people to be stomped on and "beat" up. Its good side entitles it to loud cheers. There was a big shortage of fun in American homes before airwave entertainment came in. And it's easy to forget that not many years ago staying home night after night could be dull for healthy people. It was extra awful for the sick and lonely.

Mom and pop played checkers, read the obits and glared at each other. The kids had to get their fun chalking up the wallpaper, chasing the cat or playing tricks on Aunt Minnie. Grandma, if alone in the old homestead, couldn't twist a dial and go ski-jumping, motorboat racing or tobogganing in the Alps without moving out of her armchair.

A WIDOW in the solitude of a desolate cabin couldn't take in the opera, enjoy a philharmonic concert or mingle with the stars of Hollywood and Broadway. An invalid couldn't enjoy adventure and far-off expeditions, taking a tour through show business as an encore.

A young woman in a mountain or prairie cottage couldn't have the company of Prince Charming, Lochinvar, Sir Galahad or whatever valorous figures, real or fictional, were to be ushered in by a wrist motion.

TV and radio have made every hamlet, whistle stop, igloo, tent, shanty, ranch-house, hospital and convalescent home a main ac-trance to the theatre, circus and the whole world of make-believe, easing the sufferings of millions. Yeah, there have been crooks, stupid folks and slow motions in the business. But, balanced against all the good points, who can cry, "Off with its head," to the industry?

RUSSIAN DAIRY FARMERS have challenged American farmers to prove Soviet cows give most milk. In the Soviet Union a cow has to be contented and never dares hold anything back. Every milk pail bears the warning, "Nikita is watching you."

Thomas O'Connor is out with a book of boyhood in the predelinquency days when the kids had it extra tough but didn't know it. When five years old he moved with his family to Hell's Kitchen, N.Y., to get $6 a month rent. The region had an overload of bars, filth, rats, bedbugs and smells. It had a mixture of all races in depths of poverty but O'Connor gives a stirring picture of period when it drove few kids to switchblade knives, tire chains, and guns.

His mother was a Tipperary woman, twice widowed and worked all day as a chambermaid and returned home at night to slave for the children. "She prayed every inch of the way to and from her job and home," he says.

It's so quiet with disc jockeys in some TV stations these days you can hear a "spin" drop. . . Two Congressional groups are looking into alleged exorbitant cost of pills. Both sides in probe may need wonder drugs to keep them in shape throughout the proceedings.

Race To Be At Lisbon

County Cub Scouts Wait Annual Pinewood Derby

Cub Scouts from all areas of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council are preparing for the second annual Pinewood Derby to be held Saturday at David Anderson High School gymnasium in Lisbon.

Cubs from the southern part of Columbiana County and Chester and Newell staged the Cherokee District race Nov. 28. Bill Hopper of Pack 31, East Liverpool, placed first, Kenny Simmons of Pack 12, East Liverpool, second, and Ricky Spahr of Pack 31 was third. The event was staged at the Westgate Junior High School.

Last Saturday cubs of Shawnee District — the northern half of county — held their derby at the Memorial Building in Salem. First place went to Steve Koch of Pack 70 in New Waterford, Jimmy Sutherin of Pack 5 in Salem was second and Robert Yuhnick of Pack 6 in Salem was third.

These and other heat winners will participate in the council derby. Registration will be at 1:30 p. m. and the races will start at 2 p. m. They will be competing for three trophies and heat winning awards. A special trophy will be awarded to the racer judged most novel in design.

The boys will be racing their cars on a new eight-lane track which is faster and eight feet longer than that used last year.

Howard Firestone and Carroll Greene of Salem and William Rayburn of Calcutta, Council, Shawnee and Cherokee District camping and activities chairmen, respectively, will be judges and managers.

Firestone announced that the Mellinger Lumber Co. of Leetonia donated materials. Clyde Firestone of Leetonia built the track without cost.

Winning Cub Scouts were given the go-ahead in efforts to make their racers faster but they must meet the weight and size regulations, according to Leonard McDaniel, executive head of the Shawnee District.

Explorer Post Cabinet Aims Future Activities

Plans for future activities were discussed at an Explorers Cabinet meeting held Thursday night in St. Aloysius School.

Jack Vincent, president, presided. Boy Scout officials present included Kenneth Mugridge, field executive of the Cherokee District; Larry Thompson, Cherokee District representative to the cabinet; James McKinnon, associate advisor of Post 7, and Glenn Morris, explorer advisor of Post 36.

The next meeting is Jan. 5 in Glenmoor.

Report From Across U.S.

People Have More Money, Spending It On Christmas

NEW YORK (AP)—People have more money to spend and they're spending it for Christmas.

That's the report today from almost every section of the country as merchants ring up sales which they expect will be the biggest for any Yule season in history.

An Associated Press survey of 24 major cities produced predictions of gains ranging from 2 to 15 per cent over record 1958.

"It's going to be a crackerjack of a Christmas," was the report from San Francisco.

"Department store sales are really rolling," Cleveland reports. "This will be our biggest year," says Raleigh, N.C., merchants.

"Exceptionally good," report New York's biggest stores.

Merchants say the steel strike has had little effect generally on Christmas buying.

Store owners attribute the avalanche of buying to these factors: People earned more and saved more in 1959; prices are unchanged to only slightly higher than a year ago; credit is easier.

Credit cards spurred buying in Los Angeles. "At least the woman of the house thinks she has more money," said a department store official.

Shoppers are snapping up high-priced luxury items.

"The big price tag doesn't scare them anymore. They are more concerned with fashion and quality," says a St. Louis merchant.

Miami, Fla., reported a strong demand for furs and $40 sweaters. An Indianapolis store had to re-order $100 suede jackets. In a North Carolina city, $25 electric can openers are going good.

Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago expects to sell several $2,000 assemble-it-yourself summer houses styled like a pagoda temple.

High-priced stereo and hi-fi sets are in general demand.

Shoppers are showing a practical side, too. "If you have a good bargain and they realize it, they grab the stuff like hotcakes," says a women's apparel shop owner in Kansas City.

The hot item in toys this year is a 36-inch doll that can be dressed in a 3-year-old girl's clothes. For boys the big attractions are space age toys such as missile sets and scientific laboratory kits.

Youth Nonchalantly Relates How He Killed His Schoolmate

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A New Orleans boy nabbed by FBI men here has nonchalantly related the grisly details of how he killed a schoolmate.

Frank Nicholas Chisesi, 15, smiled as he chatted with newsmen after his arrest by the FBI Thursday.

The slight youth with curly, black hair had been hunted in connection with the slaying of Rhett Blanke, also 15, of Violet, La. Blanke was found on a levee of the Mississippi River Tuesday shot and stabbed to death. He was nearly decapitated from the knifing.

Chisesi said he asked Blanke to go hunting with him Tuesday. It was the Feast of the Immaculate Conception and they had a holiday from the Roman Catholic school where they were sophomores.

Chisesi said he intended to kill Blanke because Blanke "aggravated" him at school. But he told reporters, "When I got to court I'm going to plead self defense. I can prove I shot him in self defense."

Chisesi said when they got to the hunting ground Blanke "started shooting all the shells up, shooting at my feet."

"I just got mad, took the gun away from him and started shooting at him. Then I stabbed him."

Chisesi said he stabbed Blanke "because he was still breathing. I figure if they're going to hang me, I might as well go ahead. If I'm going to get the death penalty, I might as well do a good job."

Chisesi was arraigned on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and is being held in Hudson County jail, Jersey City, in lieu of $25,000 bail.

Children's Party Set At Irondale

The Margaret Poole Circle of the Irondale Methodist Church will hold a Christmas party for all preschool age children Monday afternoon at 1 in the social rooms.

Santa Claus will be present. Members are to bring small gifts for children.

Plans for the party were made when the circle met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Jane Henderson. A Christmas program was presented, with Mrs. Joyce Cline as chairman.

A story of the origin of the Christmas tree was read by Mrs. Shirley Prosko. Mrs. Mary Workman presented a reading about Christmas carols. Mrs. Sally Workman, president, conducted business.

Mrs. Margaret Pool is visiting her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackman, of Wellsville. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wendling visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Perkins and family.

New Bridge Is Discussed

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Talk of a new bridge over the Ohio River took the spotlight Thursday night as Ohio and West Virginia legislative and business representatives met here.

The group agreed to gather data needed for presentation of a "case" to federal authorities. Federal aid, if approved, would pay 90 per cent of the cost of the span.

Ohio Highway Director Everett S. Preston informed the group that he plans to bring the new, four-lane U.S. 52 through Chesapeake, Ohio, with a traffic circle-type approach to a present Ohio River bridge to Huntington.

Speaking to the group, which included southern Lawrence County, Ohio, Chambers of Commerce, Preston asked officials to plan a similar approach on the West Virginia side to permit 40 per cent greater traffic volume.

Preston added that there is a need for an expressway down the Ohio Valley from Pittsburgh and said he wouldn't argue which side of the river it should go on.

Plans for a by-pass to connect U.S. 52 and 23 are being studied, the director said. The link would create a direct north-south route from the Huntington area.

A meeting is scheduled for next month to check on the area's progress toward getting federal aid.

Boy Hurt As Car Stops Suddenly

A 2-year-old boy hurt in a fall from the back seat of a car which halted suddenly was among four youngsters and adults treated Thursday at City Hospital.

Gregory Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Finley, 1317 Smithfield St., suffered lacerations of the face when thrown against either an umbrella or ashtray as the auto, driven by his mother, was stopped quickly last night.

Dominick Gullace, 35, of 1419 Center St., Wellsville, was treated last night for a laceration of a finger received when a cup broke at home.

Charles Strosnider, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strosnider, 524 2nd St., Chester, was treated for a fractured collarbone received in a fall in the gymnasium at school.

While at work on a cutter machine at the New Castle Refractories, Carl Riser, 64, of Newell received a laceration of a finger.

Firemen At Irontdale Called On Smoke Run

HAMMONDSVILLE — There was plenty of smoke but little fire when Irontdale volunteer firemen were summoned to the home of Paul Rhodes of Pine Grove Ridge this morning at 10.

Firemen said a boiler for steam heating overheated, apparently from a lack of water.

There was no damage to the home or contents, firemen said. Seven firemen and Chief Oliver Nicholson responded to the alarm. The home is owned by Lester Jackman.

Salem Driver Fined

LISBON — Sam Pridon, 34, of Salem was fined $2 and costs for speeding by County Judge James MacDonald Thursday. William Enstrom of Ashtabula forfeited a $10 bond when he failed to appear for a hearing. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Jaycees Will Sell Christmas Trees Starting On Thursday

The annual Christmas tree sale conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce will begin Thursday night and continue through Dec. 24, including Saturday and Sunday, at two locations.

Final plans were outlined at a meeting of the Jaycees' Executive Board Thursday night at the home of H. James Allison in Chester.

William Sutherland, committee chairman, said the sale will be held from 5 to 9 p. m. on weekdays, 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Saturday and from noon until 9 p. m. at the A. & P. super-market parking lot and at the Trotter Hardware building on Dresden Ave.

County Deer Bag Mounts; Season To End Saturday

A number of deer hunters were successful on Columbiana County's hills and fields Thursday as the three-day season opened, according to R. L. Lide of Damascus, county game protector.

Lide said he had verified reports of at least five deer bagged, but said "That is no way near the number actually killed." Lide said there were concentrations of hunters at Pancake's Hill area and around Salineville.

He added he expects to have a more complete report on the county bag Saturday when the season is due to close.

Three parties of hunters from the East Palestine area bagged five does in a concentrated drive north of New Waterford and south of Route 14 yesterday morning. Four of the deer weighed between 150 and 170 pounds, and the fifth was smaller.

Another man bagged a buck in Sheepskin Hollow south of Negley.

Newell Seniors Name Committees For Dance

Committees have been named by the Senior Class of Wells High School for the annual Christmas dance Dec. 18 in the auditorium of the Newell school.

Bob Hall's band will play for dancing and students of Wells High, guests and alumni are invited. Tickets are being sold by seniors.

Committees are: Tickets — Judy McCuen, Lois Smith, Ronda Bourne, Dallas Simmons and Joe Graham; decorations — Whitney Mosser, Judy Jackson and Ellen Broomhall; tables — Marlene Duncan, Susan Derda and Dianne Robinson; orchestra — Jane Ann Mosser, and refreshments — Carolyn Wilson.

Surplus Items Bought For County's Schools

Various items of surplus government equipment were purchased for county schools by four administrators at the warehouse at Columbus Wednesday and Thursday. Lee Kirkland, Beaver Local High School principal, said some file cabinets, hand tools and footlockers were among items obtained for Beaver Local.

Joseph Driscoll of Fairfield-Waterford and Dale Gates of United Local, along with County Supt. James McBride, obtained desks, office chairs, footlockers, typewriters, file cabinets, hand tools for shops and other equipment.

Palestine GOP Slates Party Victory Dinner

EAST PALESTINE — Tentative plans for a "Victory Dinner" late in February were made at a meeting of the Men's Republican Club Thursday night at the City Hall.

An invitation is to be extended to all county Republicans to attend the dinner for which further plans will be made at a joint meeting of the Men's and Women's Republican Club next Thursday night at the City Hall James Grappo, president, said.

Woman Given Jail Sentence

Miss Rosalee Barber, 26, of Wellsville R. D. 1 received about two months in jail Thursday when sentenced by Judge Joel H. Sharp in connection with the wounding of her mother for refusing permission to use the family car.

She was accused of pointing and discharging firearms in the altercation with Mrs. Wahnetta Barber Aug. 22 at their home in which the mother received shotgun pellets in the legs.

Actually, she was sentenced to a year in the County Jail but Judge Sharp suspended six months on good behavior and gave her credit for the approximately four months she had been confined.

But he warned her, however, that if she gets into any more trouble he will sentence her as an habitual criminal for moral turpitude.

The judge said her record shows two arrests for vagrancy and a 90-day sentence for aiding and abetting a rape committed by her former husband in Jefferson County. She was returned to court after Lima State Hospital authorities reported she was sane. She had been confined to the institution for 30 days mental observation but spent nearly 45 days at the institution.

Her ex-husband, William Edgar Wright, 22, of Wellsville was sentenced to 1-7 years at the Ohio State Penitentiary for grand larceny in the theft of copper wire, tools and metal from the Pennsylvania Railroad Sept. 4, 1955. He was placed on 5 years probation on this charge Feb. 21, 1956, and on Nov. 14, 1957, he raped a 13-year-old girl as his former wife held the victim and was sentenced to an indefinite term on Dec. 9, 1957, at the Mansfield Reformatory by Jefferson County authorities.

Columbiana County placed a hold on him and when he was released Nov. 18 he was returned to the county as a parole violator and sentenced by Judge Sharp.

Lige Freeman of 9th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville, was placed on five years probation for non-support of his minor children. He was found guilty by a Common Pleas Court jury in October and then requested probation.

Joseph Scalise, 28, of Pittsburgh was placed on two years probation for theft of a car belonging to the A. J. Loudon Motor Co. in Hanover last July 21. He had pleaded guilty and requested probation.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 6 to 12 degrees above normal. Normal high 37 north to 39 south, normal low 23-25. Mild through Monday, turning colder Tuesday and Wednesday. Precipitation will total about one inch in occasional rain tonight and Saturday and again about Monday.

2 West Virginians Sued For $311,614

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Rose M. Patterson and Paul L. Patterson of Rutland, Ohio, and Judy Slatyer of RFD 1, Middleport, are suing two West Virginia residents for a total of $311,614. The amount is sought for personal injuries received in a traffic accident last Jan. 4 along W. Va. 17 near Winfield.

Defendants are Cecil Facemire, sheriff of Braxton County as administrator of the estate of Larry Gail Sirk of Sutton, W. Va., and Donald Sirk of Duck, W. Va. The plaintiffs were riding in a car operated by Paul Patterson when it collided with one driven by Larry Sirk and owned by Donald Sirk.

4 Of Convicts Are Arraigned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four convicts who were among 20 men who staged a mass escape from Ivy Bluff Prison in North Carolina Tuesday were arraigned here before a U.S. commissioner Thursday.

The four were captured Wednesday at Cambridge, Ohio. Glen Hensley, 35, was held without bond because he is sentenced on a first-degree murder charge. Hensley and Leslie Gautier, 23, waived hearings before U.S. Commissioner Robert Newton. They are charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, said E. D. Mason, special agent in charge of the FBI's Cincinnati office.

Grady F. Stone, 23, and Hilliard Inman, 24, both charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for robbery, will be given hearings Monday before Newton.

The hearing was delayed while authorities checked into the exact charges against the two. Both had been serving terms for breaking and entering, and the FBI had no immediate information how robbery became a part of the charge. Stone, Inman and Gautier were placed in custody of the U.S. marshal and lodged in prison under $25,000 bond.

All four also have been charged with interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle and violation of the Federal Firearms Act.

Hookstown Post To Treat Children

Santa Claus will distribute gifts to children of members of South Side Memorial American Legion Post 952 near Hookstown at a Christmas party Dec. 19 at 6 p. m. at the post.

Plans for the event are almost complete. A covered dinner will also be held for members and their families. Parents will bring a gift for their child. The post met Wednesday evening.

Members are continuing their work on toys to be distributed near Christmas time to needy children. Virgil Sepler is chairman. Sepler will make a Biblical Christmas scene for the front lawn at the post.

The post received a request from South Side High School for a color guard to present flags at the basketball tournament to be held after Christmas.

The meeting scheduled for Dec. 23 was canceled for the holidays and the next will be Jan. 13. Lunch was served by a committee headed by Sepler. Richard Trimble, commander, presided.

The little two-letter word "by" can be used as a noun, verb, adverb, adjective and preposition.

Sunday Event To Be Free

School Groups To Present Christmas Music Concert

A free Christmas concert will be presented by the choir and orchestra of East Liverpool High School Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Westgate Auditorium. The theme will be "A Christmas Concert of Sacred Music."

The five participating groups have a total enrollment of over 300.

They include the Sophomore Choir, 71 members; Boys Glee Club, 45; Girls Choir, 65; Concert Choir, 82, and the orchestra, 45. E. King Mathews, supervisor of vocal music in the East Liverpool schools, and Donald C. Allen, supervisor of instrumental music, will be conductors.

A highlight of the program will be a cantata, "The Song of Christmas" (Ringwald), with Linda Coleman as soprano soloist. Vincent Maola, instrumental instructor at the East Junior High School, will be narrator.

The cantata was first performed Dec. 25, 1945, by Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians.

The orchestra will play "A Christmas Fantasia" (Grossman) and "Quiet Christmas" (Grundman).

The Sophomore Choir will sing "O, Come All Ye Faithful" (18th Century melody); "Away In a Manger" (Luther), with Jane Wright as soprano soloist; "God Rest You, Merry Gentleman" (old carol), and "Angels We Have Heard On High" (old French carol).

Girls Choir — "Sleep, Holy Child" (Old Noel); "Bring a Torch, Jeannette Isabella" (old French carol), and "Gesu Bambina" (Yon).

Boys Glee Club — "In the Highest Glory" (Williams), and "Sing Gloria" (Davis), by Ron Smith, baritone soloist.

A reception for the participants will follow in the cafeteria, under the sponsorship of the ELHS Choir Parents Association.

O'Neill Seeks High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Gov. C. William O'Neill announced today he will seek the Republican nomination for the unexpired term of the late Judge James Garfield Stewart on the Ohio Supreme Court.

O'Neill's announcement followed endorsement of his candidacy by the Belmont County Republican Committee.

O'Neill's declaration assured at least a three-way race for the court term ending Jan. 1, 1963.

Willard D. Campbell, Columbus attorney, already has filed petitions to qualify for the GOP nomination. Paul W. Brown, Youngstown attorney, is circulating petitions to qualify in the same race.

Judge John Weld Peck, Cincinnati Democrat, was appointed earlier this year to the Supreme Court vacancy caused by Stewart's death. Peck has announced he will seek election to complete the unexpired term.

O'Neill has been practicing law in Columbus and his hometown of Marietta since his defeat for reelection as governor last year. Before that he served 12 years in the Ohio Legislature, representing Washington County, and was House Speaker in 1947-48. He was attorney general for six years before he became governor in 1957.

According to Gilbert Youth Research, newspaper ads generate more belief among teen-agers than do magazine ads or broadcast commercials. They say newspaper ads are more factual and give them guidance in making buying decisions.

Santa and the ICE KING

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

Synopsis: Surviving a fierce storm on the ice sea, Onik and Keotuk, his faithful dog have finally reached Santa Land, where they hope to enlist Santa's help in getting the Ice King to end the terrible continuous winter.

CHAPTER FIVE

Onik hurried over the hill and into the valley where he had seen smoke trailing into the sky.

Sure enough the smoke was coming from a little red chimney on top of a little red house.

"It's Santa's house! I know it is!" exclaimed Onik joyfully and, with Keotuk at his heels, he rushed up to the porch.

Tap, tap! He knocked eagerly at the door.

There was no answer.

Bang, bang! he pounded.

Still no answer.

Onik looked around. Now he saw another house nearly buried under the ice and snow. It was a long low building. Although it had a chimney, there was no smoke coming from it. Further away he saw a large red barn but still no sign of any living creature.

Keotuk sniffed at the door of the little red house. He whimpered. Puzzled, Onik put his hand on the knob and opened the door.

"Hello!" he called. "May I come in?"

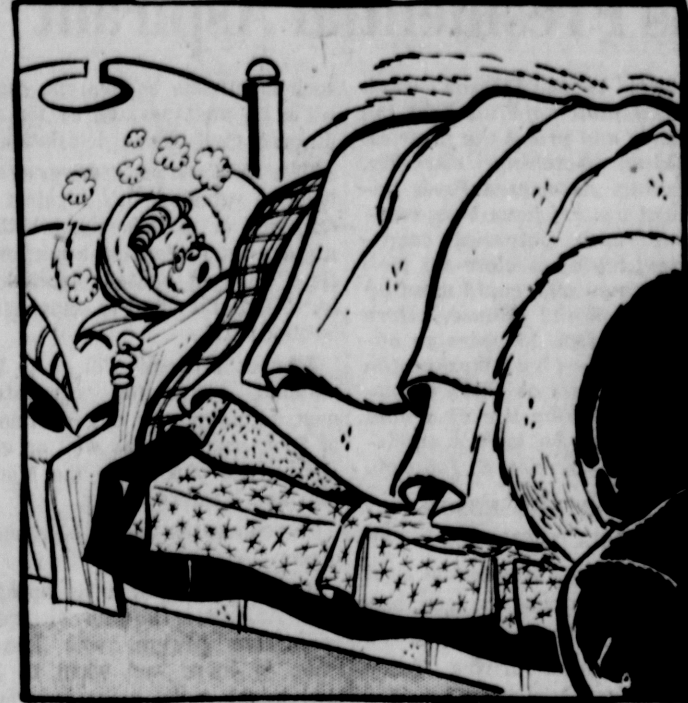

THERE WAS no answer. Holding his breath, Onik tiptoed in. He found himself in a room with four square walls not at all like the round snow walls he was used to at home.

There was a little fire burning in the fireplace. Two large empty chairs sat before the fire. There was a desk in the corner with papers and letters strewn over its top.

"Oh, my!" breathed Onik gazing around admiringly.

In all his life he had never been in any house except an igloo or tent. He had never seen a fireplace or a chair or a desk! He felt that he had walked into a place such as he had heard kings lived in in faraway places.

He was about to lower himself into one of the chairs when suddenly he heard a groan. He leaped

"Land sakes!" cried Mrs. Santa Claus. "Who are you?"

ed up. The groan came again. It was from over his head!

Astonished, he realized there was another room on top of the one he was in. He found some stairs and, trembling, he tiptoed up to the second floor.

He found himself in a bedroom and in the bedroom was a bed and in the bed there was someone. At least Onik thought there was someone in the bed but it was hard to be sure because there were so many covers on it.

There were quilts and comforters and blankets and even an enormous polar bear rug on top of whoever was in the bed.

ONIK CLEARED his throat. "I beg your pardon," he said.

The great pile of covers heaved upward and the astonished face of Mrs. Santa Claus appeared.

"Land sakes!" she cried. "Who are you?"

"I am an Eskimo boy," said Onik nervously. "I have come from across the sea to ask Santa to save me and my people from the Ice King's anger. You see, it is summer but still summer has not come."

"Oh, I know! Don't tell me!" said Mrs. Claus and she threw herself back into the covers with another groan.

"We too have been waiting all these months for summer which has not come. And now I have terrible rheumatism which I should only have in winter months. And the snow is so high and the ice so thick we cannot get wood for the fires so the fairies have no fire in the workshops and they are too cold to work. We ourselves are using the dining room chairs for firewood, but even those won't last much longer."

"And the ice is so thick the reindeer have not been able to dig moss to eat and they are starving."

"Oh, don't tell me about the Ice King's anger. He's gone plumb off his head, I say, and—"

"Where is Santa Claus?" interrupted Onik uneasily.

"In the barn, I expect, nursing the reindeer. Santa says unless something happens soon there's just not going to be any Christmas any more."

Onik slipped from the room. He ran down the stairs and out of the house.

"Oh, Keotuk," he exclaimed to his dog waiting at the door. "It's much worse than I knew! Why, even Santa doesn't know what to do!"

Midland Club Unloads Yule Trees Preliminary To Sale

Several Midland Lion Club members unloaded Christmas trees Thursday night in preparation for their sale beginning Saturday at two locations with proceeds to help the club's sight conservation program.

Trees will be sold next to the First National Bank on Midland Ave. and at Craft's service station in Industry. Paul Schlosser is tree chairman.

The Board of Directors met at Deramo's Restaurant last night. A "clearing house" meeting, with representatives of Midland churches and other organizations invited, will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the McGeehan Agency on Midland Ave.

The purpose of the meeting will be to check names of people eligible to receive Christmas food baskets so that there will be no duplications and to insure that all in need will be helped. McGeehan is chairman of the project for the club.

The club will provide transportation for the sightless in Midland to attend a Christmas party Dec. 29 at the Lighthouse for the Blind at New Brighton. The directors made a $20 donation for the party. Several club members will attend.

Plans are being made by clubs of Beaver County to hold free glaucoma testing to check for possible cataracts which cause blindness. A preliminary testing will be held Jan. 6 at the Beaver Valley General Hospital at New Brighton. If all goes well, general testing will be held Jan. 26.

The Lioness Club will hold a Christmas party Wednesday. At the regular club meeting Thursday evening, Emeric Davis will be program chairman and will introduce a world traveler to show travel movies.

Paul Adams, president, presided.

LET'S NAIL DOWN A RUMOR

There's a great deal of loose talk by politicians about the high cost of prescription drugs. Sure they are higher than ten years ago. Isn't everything? Prices for food . . . clothing . . . housing . . . automobiles . . . TAXES have gone up more than prescriptions. Let's nail down the rumor with facts—and here's one you should know! Over half the prescriptions we will fill still cost less than two dollars. Some cost more. But this is another fact—prescriptions are never over-priced here.

City NAACP Chapter Inducts Junior And Senior Officials

Adult and junior officers of the city branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were installed at a meeting Thursday night in the Second Baptist Church in East End. About 35 attended.

The adult group also announced committee chairmen for activities and discussed plans to sponsor a public card party Monday night to promote sale of Christmas Seals.

Caesar Peters headed the slate of adult officers installed by the Rev. R. L. Latimore of host church.

Other officers seated were Earl Taylor, vice president; Kay Waters, secretary; Jeannette Richardson, assistant secretary; Mateline Singleton, treasurer, and Dorothy Peters, financial secretary.

Junior officers installed were Joe Thompson, president; Diane Carter, vice president; Willa Mae Johnson, secretary; Sally Myers, assistant secretary; Bonny Vene, financial secretary, and Joyce Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

Peters presided for business and reported that efforts are in progress to place Negroes in some city department jobs.

The public card party Monday night at 8 will be held in the Civic League Building. Those attending will receive Christmas Seals in return for paid admission.

Other plans were discussed for a membership drive and a "Miss NAACP" popularity contest. A brief musical program was presented.

Adult chairmen named are: J. W. Early, executive board; Mrs. Winifred Jones, membership drive; Anna Jones, social; Mrs. Mateline Singleton, financial; Mrs. Libby Lacey, youth; Earl Taylor, labor; Mrs. Jean Mahoney, Christmas Seals; John Chavis, fair employment; Mrs. Kay Waters, publicity; Oliver Spencer, legal redress; Church, Rev. Latimore and Rev. L. R. Garrett; education; Mrs. Katherine Williams, and political, Clyde Christian.

25 Officials-Elect Get New Warning To List Expenses

The Columbiana County Election Board today mailed a "third and final warning" to 25 officials-elect named at the Nov. 3 general election that they will be unable to assume office Jan. 1 unless they file the sworn statements of campaign expenses required by law.

The warnings were mailed to officials-elect in East Palestine, Salem, Wellsville, Columbiana, Leetonia, Lisbon, New Waterford, Rogers, Summitville, St. Clair and Madison Townships, and the Beaver Local, Columbiana Exempted Village, Fairfield-Waterford and Franklin Local school districts.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, pointed out that state law forbids the Election Board to issue certificates of election to persons who do not list their campaign expenses. Without a certificate of election, an official cannot qualify to assume his duties.

The deadline for the reports is Dec. 18 at 4 p. m. Twenty-five defeated candidates also have not filed the reports. If they fail to comply, the law will bar them from seeking public office again for five years. The prohibition against running for office for five years also applies to the successful candidates who fail to file.

The board mailed another warning about a week ago. At that time, 75 winners and 75 defeated candidates had not reported.

Yule Party Scheduled For West Point Pupils

WEST POINT — The West Point School's annual Christmas party will be held Monday night at 7:30 at the high school near Williamsport according to plans made by the West Point Mothers Club Thursday afternoon.

The party has been transferred to the high school to accommodate the large crowd expected.

The club approved plans for providing ornaments for Christmas trees in each room. Mrs. Mary Jo Kirkland presided at the meeting attended by 20. The next meeting will be Jan. 13.

Woman Dies In Wreck

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Emma Jane Thompson, 77, of Wapakoneta, was killed near here Thursday when the car her husband was driving left a county road and hit a tree, sheriff's deputies said. The husband, George, 78, suffered minor cuts.

Tarsus was the native city of the Apostle Paul.

to be an Ohio L H series. She said she thought that someone was bringing a patron back to the motel from Salem. The third remained at the wheel.

Mrs. Rini untied the two and phoned Salem police as soon as the pair departed. She told authorities she believed the car turned west toward Alliance.

Police in the area were alerted and set up road blocks at various locations. Assisting Salem officers were Alliance and Sebring police, Constable John Herman of Salem Township, a Mahoning County deputy sheriff and the State Highway Patrol, including three cruisers from the Lisbon post.

Descriptions issued by the sheriff's office indicate one man was between 30 and 35, about 6 feet tall, had black hair and was well dressed, wearing a finger-length coat.

The second was about 5 feet 7, stocky, round face, with blond crew haircut. He also wore a short-style coat.

Judge Asks Presents For 11 Youth At BIS

LISBON — Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin today requested Columbiana County clubs and organizations to send presents to county youths who will spend Christmas at the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster.

The county has 11 boys in the institution, ranging from 14 to 17. One is 14, two are 15, two 16 and six 17, Judge Tobin said.

Any group wishing to send presents may address them to the school, marking the packages "For Columbiana County Boys."

Farmer Releases Self From Picker But Loses Arm

LISBON — A 29-year-old western Columbiana County farmer who had to cut himself free from a cornpicker in which his arm was caught is in "fair" condition today at Salem City Hospital following amputation of the whole arm.

William Woolf of New Alexander slipped on ice and fell into the side of the machine in a field of his farm Wednesday, and was unable to free his arm because his jacket was also caught.

He managed to get to his knife with his free hand and began to cut at the jacket, but the knife fell and he could not reach it with his hand.

Woolf removed his boot, shoe and sock, and retrieved the knife with his toes, freed himself and walked a half mile to his car. Driving home, he was spotted by Olan Sanor, a neighbor, who realized something was wrong because Woolf wasn't wearing a shirt or jacket.

Supervisors Appoint Member Of Authority

The Industry Township Board of Supervisors met Thursday afternoon in Industry School and appointed Fred J. Wilton Jr. as a member of the Municipal Authority for five years.

He replaces Charles Barrickman, whose term expired. Harry Craik was reappointed to the planning commission for a five-year term. The board, which held its last meeting, will finish up old business Jan. 4 and turn the governing of the township over to borough officials.

Industry will become a borough Jan. 1.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What has happened to American entertaining? I refer to people who invite you over for a social evening and then put you in the cellar—pardon me—the recreation room.

Why do people have a living room or a dining room if they don't want anyone to go near them? I think it's insulting the way a host or a hostess meets guests at the door and proceeds to hustle them right past the good furniture down to the coal hole.

You get to sit on the old makeshift couch or chair with the oil burner and water heater in full view. The floor usually has some discarded, ratty-looking rug or homemade linoleum.

Why do reasonably intelligent people do this, Ann? Don't they realize guests want to be entertained in homes not basements?—SEVEN LEAGUES UNDER.

Dear Seven: Congratulations for having the courage to say what many others have thought privately.

Now and then you'll find a recreation room which is as nice as the upstairs but chances are better than even that the good furniture is on the ground floor. As to why people herd guests down to the cellar, I think it's more than an effort to save the rugs and upholstery. Usually the recreation room was fixed up by the guy who owns the house and he's so ding-busted proud that he put in a false pasteboard ceiling to cover the water pipes that he wants the whole world to know.

Bachelor Girls

Dear Ann: A neighbor just brought over your article about the behavior of single girls in apartments.

I managed an apartment house for 23 years. When I learned certain girls had late late callers I DID something about it. According to YOU, Ann Landers, you can't change a girl's morals. Well, maybe not, but I did change a few addresses.

When a young man stays in a girl's apartment past midnight I assure you they aren't playing Chinese checkers. They called me an old biddy and worse but I didn't stand for anything on my premises and everyone in Dubuque knew my building was respectable.—O.R.

Dear O.R.: Did your friend bring the entire article or just part of it?

I made it plain in that column that the owner could ask a tenant to move if she didn't approve of her way of life but she had no right to tell anyone how to live.

Dinner Intruder

Dear Ann: What do you think of a woman who lives within a block of the grocery store and calls her son up every night at dinner time to ask him to go pick up dog food or some other darned fool thing?

This has been going on for three years and I'm ready to blow my top. It seems that just as we are ready to sit down to supper, the phone rings and it's my mother-in-law with a small request. My husband always goes at once. He says it's his duty.

When he gets home the supper is overcooked, the kids are ornery from waiting and I'm mad. What's the solution?—POOR SECOND.

Dear Second: Your husband owes his mother respect but he also has a duty to you and to his children.

Tell him to offer to do all Mom's grocery shopping Saturdays because he cannot do it during the week.

SEC Official Plunges

To Death In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A senior enforcement officer for the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission here, Edward O. Reid, plunged to his death Thursday from his 23rd floor office.

Police listed the death as due to a fall or leap.

Reid, 55, a bachelor, had been with the SEC more than 20 years. He had an excellent record and had given no indication of illness or mental strain, said Paul Windels, SEC regional administrator. Windels walked into the office just as Reid disappeared out of the window.

Driver Killed By Train

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A New York Central passenger train traveling at 75 to 80 m.p.h. hit a car stalled on a crossing at Clay Center early today, killing the driver of the car, the Highway Patrol reported. Dead was Meryl Felbinger, 30, of Martin in Ottawa County. Clay Center is seven miles southeast of here.

Chester PTA To Give Party

Final plans were made by the Washington Home and School Association of Chester Thursday night for the annual Christmas party for the school Dec. 18.

Homeroom mothers and teachers will be in charge of the event, which will include games and a gift exchange.

A musical program was presented by the Christianaaires, a quartet consisting of Harold Staley, James Staley, Elmer Kell and Paul Barnhart. A Christmas poem was read by Mrs. Donald Hood.

The attendance prize was won by the first grade taught by Mrs. Max Tuttle. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cecil Smith and committee.

Mrs. Richard Barnhart, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be Jan. 14.

Certificates Given By Chester Lions

Certificates of citation for membership activities were presented to the Chester Lions Club and two members at a meeting Thursday night at the clubhouse.

Walter Jordan presented the certificates to the club and to Jerry D'Angelo and John Abrams for fulfilling membership quotas. The citations were sent by the district governor.

Plans were made for distribution of Christmas baskets to needy families in the town. The club is selling Christmas trees at Carolina Ave. and 4th St. to raise funds for projects.

The club is also erecting a Nativity scene at Carolina Ave. and 4th St. adjacent to the City Hall.

Perfume was distributed to members to sell to raise money for the state Lions Sight Conservation Foundation. D'Angelo, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be Jan. 14.

Key Club Sets League For Chester Students

Plans for a Chester High School intramural basketball league were completed at a meeting of the school's Key Club Thursday at the high school.

The league, due to start after Christmas, will include six teams chosen from the four high school classes. A contribution of $5 for the CARE program was authorized. The next meeting will be Dec. 17.

2 Union Officials Bring Charges In Proposed Layoffs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Plans of the General Electric Co. to lay off 800 workers at its jet engine plant here have brought charges by two union officials that there is discrimination against union members.

GE said Thursday 241 hourly-paid workers would be laid off after next week. Another 550 salaried and managerial employees will be laid off about Jan. 1.

Robert Lawson, head of the United Automobile Workers local, and Arnold Tucker, leader of the Machinists Union, protested the dismissal of hourly-paid workers before the white-collar employees.

Tucker claimed union members were being laid off just before Christmas "because they belong to union."

John MacQueen, manager of employee and community relations for the company, said it long has been policy to give longer layoff notices to salaried employees than to those paid by the hour. He said it takes longer to determine which salaried employees should be cut loose.

GE said the layoffs are due to a cutback in military orders for jet engines for bombers.

A person's eyes, according to the results of scientific study, send on to his brain only about 1 per cent of the information they receive.

TV Plays Up To The Kiddies This Year

I had my two children watch "Oliver Twist" last Friday night, their first exposure to the Dickens classic. "How come everyone's so cruel?" asked my daughter, after poor little Oliver took an awful drubbing after asking for seconds. I was a little surprised at this reaction. Between the mayhem on television and the horror the kids were well inured to cruelty.

But 19th century cruelty was a different matter. Firstly, it was directed against children and children aren't used to this.

Secondly, it was real—as opposed to the sort of play cruelty which leaves the children so unmoved on TV.

"SAD STORY" was another comment that escaped them as Oliver Twist was torn from the loving Brownlows and put back into the hands of the villainous Fagin.

Altogether, though, I don't think the kids were as moved or as interested in "Oliver Twist" as I was at their age.

Something fell out of the story—some of the sweep and power of 19th-century England—some of the terror and wonder of it.

It was a splendid production with some mighty fine actors and the sights and sounds and smells of 19th-century London came across superbly. But the story was a little foreshortened.

Eric Portman was an impressive Fagin, physically, but I had trouble understanding him—a common complaint against Portman, who simply won't take it seriously.

Robert Morley had great majesty and humanity as Mr. Brownlow (though he blew sky high at one point).

As Oliver, young Frederick Clark was a little tentative, a little pallid. Perhaps that was the trouble.

THE KIDS just didn't seem to care much about the people. They were much more impressed a week earlier with NBC's "Miracle on 34th Street," another live production, with Ed Wynn playing a real Santa Claus who takes the place of a department store Santa Claus.

Again it was a famous movie which I didn't see. (Vance Packard says it now is a status symbol to turn the TV set off altogether or to sell it. But back when I was a boy it was a symbol of intellectual status to NOT attend movies. Now I am seeing on television all the movies I deliberately missed in the '30s and '40s. Now it's a symbol of status to GO to movies. In fact, in France, Ken Tynan reported in the New Yorker, movies are THE thing for the younger intellectuals; none of whom goes to the theater.)

Anyhow, when Peter Lind Hayes, won an acquittal for old Santa the kids cheered and so did I.

It was a sentimental bit of whimsy and Mr. Wynn, even though he blew his lines a couple of times, was very fetching as were Mr.

Hayes and Miss Healy and an adorable little girl, Susan Gordon. It was beautifully directed, by William Corrigan, too.

ONE OF THE BIG hits—one of the few of this TV season is CBS' "Dennis the Menace," a film version of the comic strip. The kids eat it up—but I'm not sure I do.

Dennis is a small boy (played by Jay North, a snub-nosed blond moppet who'll remind you older children of Jackie Cooper), who is incessantly trying to help out.

Helping out, the swimming pool somehow accidentally gets dug in the wrong back yard. Or in trying to help his father out of imaginary financial difficulties he shatters friendships and gets the whole community in an uproar.

It's comedy by inadvertence, comedy by misunderstanding. Well, heaven knows there's nothing the matter with that. Misunderstanding peopled radio with plots for situation comedies for years.

But I guess I just outgrew it. Anyhow, Dennis seems awfully contrived, awfully fixed. Also, Dennis is much too well brushed to be quite real. They ought to muss his hair if I'm to believe it.

Still the kids just adore it and it's wholesome enough entertainment for them.

I THOUGHT Jimmy Durante and Jane Powell and Ray Bolger had an awfully nice show the other night, full of show business schmaltz and fun and laughter.

They, too, had a small boy, Eddie Hodges, involved. It's getting to be almost impossible to put on a show without 'em.

USW Wants Local Rules Retained, Republic Claims

CLEVELAND (AP)—The president of Republic Steel Corp. says United Steelworkers officials want local work rules retained because "day in and day out these matters give them an opportunity to sound off against management."

Thomas Patton made the statement Thursday in the second of a series of radio broadcasts concerning contract negotiations between the union and the steel industry.

Patton asked steelworkers to examine Republic's contract proposals. At an additional cost of 30 cents per hour per employee over a three-year period, he said, the company has offered increased wages and improved pension, health and insurance benefits.

The problem of local working conditions would be turned over to a two-man committee for study, he added, with arbitration the final step.

To Buy Dayton Firm

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Gardner-Denver Co., Quincy, Ill., will buy the Apex Machine & Tool Co. here, the two companies announced Thursday. More than six million dollars' worth of Gardner-Denver stock will be exchanged for all of Apex's stock, and the sale will make Apex a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Illinois firm.

Defense Turn In Clarksburg Murder Trial

CLARKSBURG (AP)—The turn of the defense to give its side came today in the murder trial of convict Nick Petrou. The time needed may not be long and the case could go to the jury before the day is over.

Defense attorney Donald R. Wilson indicated that he might not call any witnesses, and the only one under consideration was the accused man himself.

Petrou is a middle-aged Greek immigrant who hung around West Virginia cities after getting out of Illinois State Penitentiary, where he did time for killing a policeman in the early 30s. He was in Clarksburg in April 1955 when Mrs. Frances Laughlin and Mrs. Joann Bland were found shot to death in the Laughlin home.

Petrou was not connected with the double murder until early this year, when his ex-wife said that he and another man named "Joe" had killed the women while attempting a robbery.

This ex-wife, Mrs. Cora Christafalos, was the last witness the prosecution called yesterday before resting its case. She was one of its two key witnesses, the other being Charles Bishop of Ashland, Ky., who testified the day before.

Petrou went back to the penitentiary because of Mrs. Christafalos. He broke into her Chicago apartment last January and was wounded in a gunfight with her present husband. The result was that he was sent back to the Illinois penitentiary for 10 to 20 years and that his ex-wife implicated him in the double murder here.

The Harrison County grand jury indicted him over both deaths, but he was brought to trial in Criminal Court last Monday only for that of Mrs. Bland.

Mrs. Christafalos told the court and all-male jury during her hour on the stand yesterday that Petrou had admitted to her he killed Mrs. Bland while she pleaded for mercy.

Another IBOP Local To Air Building Plans

Another local union of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters has scheduled discussion on a resolution asking a referendum of the trade on plans to erect a new IBOP headquarters building on Route 7 near Beaver Local High School.

Local 130, kilnfiremen, helpers and trackmen, will discuss the question at its regular meeting tonight, according to an official note published Thursday in The Pottery Herald, union newspaper.

Backed by a rank-and-file "referendum committee," some members of the IBOP have sought to force a vote on the building plans. At least eight locals must approve such a resolution to require a referendum, according to the union constitution.

Cincinnati Pressmen To Vote On Pact Offer

CINCINNATI (AP)—Pressmen on Cincinnati's two daily newspapers will vote Monday on whether to accept a new proposal for a contract.

John Woods, president of the pressmen's local, said negotiators would recommend that members employed at the Cincinnati Enquirer and the Cincinnati Post & Times-Star accept the proposal. He did not disclose its terms.

A TREE GROWS IN MIDLAND, lemon tree, that is, and Nick D'Innocenzo, 533 Ohio Ave., shows that it has two lemons about the size of softballs. D'Innocenzo has had the plant about two and a half years. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. M. Dean and Mrs. O. C. Zimmerman of Chester. Others were Mrs. Paul Brandon, Mrs. Kenneth Mackall and Mrs. Andrew McHaffie.

Next meeting will be Jan. 12 with Mrs. Phillip Hewitt as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Marie Andrews.

The Peter Pan Club held its Christmas dinner and party Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Robinson.

A gift exchange was held between secret pals. Game prizes were won by Mrs. Virginia Rogers, Mrs. James Denny and Mrs. Donald Stanford. Mrs. Robert Otey assisted the hostess in serving dinner.

Mrs. Duane Chambers of R. D. 1 will be the hostess Jan. 4. Club 13 will meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Virginia Rogers of Aliquippa R. D. 1. There will be a gift exchange and secret pals will be revealed and new ones chosen. Mrs. Lois Colonna will be the January hostess.

The Stitches and Chatter Club will meet Wednesday at 6 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Moore of R. D. 1 for a Christmas coverdish and party.

Gifts will be exchanged between secret pals who will be revealed and new ones chosen. Mrs. John Moore will be the January hostess.

Guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hobbs were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Maxwell and family of Burgettstown.

Humphrey Hits Benson On Inspection Points

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) says the Agriculture Department has failed to set up adequate inspection at Great Lakes points to protect against spread of plant diseases and insects from foreign ships.

In a letter to Secretary Ezra Taft Benson made public today, Humphrey said there is need for immediate action to institute inspection service at the entrance of the St. Lawrence Seaway and at grain shipping points on the seaway.

State Hospital Paint Shop Hit By Fire

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A fire apparently started by static electricity destroyed the paint shop at Hawthornden State Hospital in northern Summit County Thursday. Damage was estimated at $15,000 to $30,000 by Dr. Howard H. Poppel, superintendent.

None of the 1,800 hospital patients was endangered by the blaze. A painter in the shop, a one-story sheet-metal structure, suffered minor burns.

Singing Group Is Cleared Of Morals Count

CINCINNATI (AP)—Freed of morals charges here, The Platons, internationally known Negro singing group, are headed for an engagement in Germany.

They said they would open in Berlin Monday.

Although Municipal Judge Gilbert Bettman acquitted the four singers of charges of aiding and abetting prostitution, lewdness or assignation, he lashed at them for having "broken that law which distinguishes man from animal—the moral law."

Acquitted with the men Thursday were four 19-year-old girls—three white and one Negro.

The eight were arrested in a hotel here last Aug. 10. Police said all were either nude or scantily clad.

The night club and recording singers are Ervin Robi, 26, of El Centro, Calif.; Samuel (Tony) Williams, 31, of Hollywood, Calif.; and David Lynch Jr., 30 and Herbert A. Reed, 31, both of Los Angeles. The girls are Jarie Davis, Patsy Sue Howard and Virginia Lee Jones, all of Hamilton, Ohio, and Helen Harrison of Cincinnati.

Judge Bettman based his acquittal decision on a finding there was no evidence the men paid the girls any money and on his opinion as to the definitions and legislative intent in the use of the words "lewdness" and "indiscriminate" in the Ohio law.

He told the singers, however, that "you men, who through your position, had an opportunity to be an example to your people, have instead brought shame upon them."

For these transgressions you will be accountable to the Highest Court before which you must, in the end, stand final judgment," he said.

DiSalle Completes Industrial Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four new appointments by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle complete membership of a nine-man advisory committee to the new Department of Industrial and Economic Development.

Appointed Thursday were: James Stuart of Dayton, president-general manager of the Dayton Power & Light Co.; John Caren, attorney of Worthington, Columbus suburb; Frank J. Nardini of Lorain, contractor and trucking firm president, and Edward G. Fisher, Warren city councilman and former president of a steelworkers union local.

Earlier appointees were Jules D. Lippman, Toledo industrialist; Frank Spencer, Newark publisher; Donald S. Carmichael, Cleveland attorney; Elmer Cope of Columbus, an Ohio labor leader, and James P. Griffin, Youngstown labor official.

Palsy Parents To Hold Children's Yule Party

Plans for a Christmas party for the children were outlined at the meeting of the Parental Group of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association Wednesday night in the clinic rooms of the Mary Patterson Memorial.

The event will be held the evening of Dec. 19 and Santa Claus will distribute gifts to the children. A tree and the refreshments will be donated.

Mrs. Martha Garren, president, presided, and Mrs. Shirley White gave the secretary's report.

Mrs. Juanita Banik and Mrs. Irene Bender were guests.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Clara Morgan.

The next meeting will be Jan. 27 at the clinic.

Railways Firm, Striking Union Set More Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Another joint meeting between the Pittsburgh Railways Co. and the striking trolley and bus operators union was scheduled for today. The walkout is in its fourth day.

Neither side made comments on talks held Thursday in an attempt to end the strike. The meeting the first face-to-face session in more than a week between union and company negotiators.

Some 1,700 operators struck early Tuesday after their union turned down a proposed settlement offered by Mayor Joseph Barr. Barr's proposal would have given the drivers a 13-cent raise over a three-year period, plus adjustments for changes in the cost of living.

The operators members of Division 85 of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, averaged $2.49 under the old contract which expired Tuesday morning.

The Sports Bench Harris To Make Coaching Debut At ELHS

Potters Look To Winning Side . . .

By BOB DUFFY
Sports Editor

"HARRIS POURS IN 26." "HARRIS CAGES 22 POINTS TO BREAK SCHOOL RECORD." "POTTERS JIM HARRIS NAMED TO FIRST ALL-OHIO TEAM."

These were some of the headlines that appeared in the Review when East Liverpool's new basketball coach, Jim Harris, was starting for the local cage squad during the 1945-46 season.

Harris was an outstanding basketball player and a master of about every shot in the book while in high school and college.

Returning to his alma mater he is faced with a problem of bringing East Liverpool back to the winning side of basketball.

Last year's record, one of the worst in the history of the school, was the first losing season here since the 1944 campaign.

Harris said the other day, "We have to win. Too many times when a team is losing like East Liverpool did last year it becomes a habit."

"By winning the opener against Alliance, the kids may develop a different attitude that could mean a lot on the outcome of the season," he added.

Congratulations In Order . . .

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for Bob Mackall and Bruce Reynolds who were honored on the All-Ohio team.

Mackall was selected on the second offensive unit, while Reynolds gained honorable mention.

We feel it was a personal triumph for "Big Mama" who wasn't even a regular when the season started.

However, once the campaign got under way, we remember Coach Lou Venditti saying after the second game, "That Reynolds is stopping all of our offensive plays in practice. It is going to be hard to keep him out of the starting lineup."

It wasn't long after that until Reynolds was a starter and the Potter fans know the rest of the story of how in four straight games "Big Mama" was always on the bottom to recover when the opposition fumbled deep in East Liverpool territory.

The Steubenville Central game played in the mud was probably his most outstanding contest. He College Scouts Look This Way . . .

LIKE VENDITTI says, when you have a winning season, they are all after you. And the past few days college scouts have been streaming through the front door at East Liverpool High School.

The colleges are interested in Bob Mackall, Craig Burdick, Bruce Reynolds, Dave Zeich and several others.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

A FORMER Chester athlete is claiming the mythical Class "A" football crown in Ohio.

Virgil Allison, who played at Chester from 1937 to 1941, is head coach at Killbuck, Ohio, where his team won all 7 games in Class "A" competition, losing only to Norway, which is a "AA" school.

In two years at Killbuck, Allison's teams have never lost a Class "A" game and were undefeated last year in their first full season of 11-man football.

LOOKING over the schedule of games tonight and Saturday, we find ourselves facing a couple of tough decisions.

Tonight we are picking East Liverpool over Alliance by a narrow margin. Saturday it looks like a tossup between the Potters and Wellsville, with the Tigers having a little more artillery than East Liverpool.

In other games tonight, we'll stick with Wellsville over Lisbon and Midland to whip Ellwood City. With sickness creeping into the Chester squad, we will have to pick Beaver tonight.

Newell is our choice over New Cumberland in a mild upset, while Burgettstown, an "A" school,

New Cumberland Drops 2nd Contest To Bethany, 48-34

NEW CUMBERLAND — The New Cumberland Blue Raiders are battling an even .500 today after dropping its second start in four games to Bethany, 48-34, here Thursday night.

Tied at the end of the first period, 14-14, Bethany moved out to a 27-18 advantage at halftime and then breezed the remainder of the way.

The victory was Bethany's third in four outings this season.

Takes Rookie Honors.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Fred Bruchbauer of the Fox Cities, Wis., team won honors as rookie of the year in the Class B Three I League. The 21-year-old former University of Minnesota right hander compiled a 12-5 record. He beat every team in the league and

Potters Open With Alliance Here Tonight

Jim Harris will make his debut as head basketball coach at East Liverpool High School when he sends his Potters against Alliance tonight at Memorial Auditorium.

Action will get under way at 7 p. m. when reserve squads from the two schools meet. The varsity game will start about 8:30.

Starting Lineups

E. LIVERPOOL ALLIANCE
Markall 5-11 F Davidson 6-3
Burdick 6-3 F Longmire 6-1
Bigelow 6-6 C Duncan 6-4
Cunningham 5-10 G Wallace 6
Miller 6 G Byrd 5-8

Harris plans to start five lettermen — two juniors and three seniors.

Leading the veterans will be Kenny Cunningham, who as a sophomore was the top scorer for the Potters last season.

The other junior is Kenny Miller, a brother of another former Potter great, Denzil Miller.

The three seniors rounding out the Potter lineup are big Ray Bigelow, a 6-foot-4 pivot man who is expected to give the Blue and White a big boost on the boards, Craig Burdick, 6-foot-3, and Bob Mackall, 5-foot-11.

This quintet is the same team that finished out the 1958-59 season.

East Liverpool will be out to avenge a 46-45 defeat at the hands of the Aviators last year.

Coach Ron Peeling will start an all-junior team against the Potters.

Doug Duncan, a 6-foot-4 pivot man, is the tallest of the Aviators and was the leading scorer as a sophomore in the 1958-59 season.

The other four starters include Jim Davidson, 6-foot-3, and Sam Longmire, 6-foot-1, at forwards and Bob Wallace, 6 feet, and Zeodis Byrd, 5-foot-4 at guards.

Byrd, smallest man for the Aviators, is a capable driver and occasionally zips down the middle for easy buckets.

Tonight's game marks the opener for both schools.

Saturday night East Liverpool and Wellsville square off in the first of the annual two-game seasonal set at Beacom Memorial gym.

Last year East Liverpool and Wellsville split in two games, the Potters winning the first contest at Memorial Auditorium, 60-56, and the Tigers roaring back to lace the Blue and White, 68-52, at Wellsville.

Coach Jack McDevitt's capable Tigers lost their only start of the season at Midland.

Bob Kiggins, Wellsville's brilliant junior star, is the man the Potters will have to stop.

However, Kiggins has a fine supporting cast in Franklin Jackson, 6-foot-4, Ray Franklin, 5-foot-8, Phil Baldwin, 6-foot-1, and Mill Lamp 5-11.

In Wellsville's 71-43 loss to Midland, Kiggins was the big gun with 23 points and was the leading rebounder for the Tigers.

Famed Boxer Is Found Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, whose flailing fists carried him from a bootblack's boy on the sidewalks of New Orleans to boxing's hall of fame, no longer will hold court on his beloved Broadway.

The great little gladiator who won the featherweight, lightweight and junior welterweight was found dead Thursday in a $31-a-week midtown hotel room. Medical authorities said the 51-year-old scrapper apparently had died of natural causes two days ago.

When Canzoneri failed to show for two days at the Broadway restaurant which paid him for the use of his name, a friend, Norman Schwartz, checked the hotel. The ex-champion was found dead lying across a bed, clad in his underwear.

The word quickly spread up and down Broadway.

In front of the restaurant, where Tony held court each night for those who remembered back to the exciting days in the 1920s and early 1930s, many of his friends clustered. They talked in almost hush tones of the man with the big smile who won 140 fights, lost 24 and drew in 11 and then, after his retirement in 1939, joined comedian Joey Adams in a successful night club act.

Purses were not always big in his days, but Canzoneri earned more than $500,000 with his fists. He met all the top fighters of his time—Johnny Dundee, Benny Bass, Kid Chocolate, Bud Taylor, Lou Ambers, Bushy Graham, Joe Sabor, Sammy Mandell, Al Singer, Jackie (Kid) Berg, Stan Loayza, Billy Petrolia, Wes Ramey, Baby Arizmendi, Barney Ross and Jimmy McLarnin.

Colts Rate Heavy Edge Over Los Angeles Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A favored Baltimore Colt football team arrives in town today, determined to whip the Los Angeles Rams Saturday and escape any possible playoff for the Western Division title of the National Football League.

The defending Colts are picked by as much as 12 points to inflict the 10th defeat of the season on the Rams in the final game for each in the regular NFL season.

The struggle, with some 60,000 expected in Memorial Coliseum, will be televised nationally by the Columbia Broadcasting System, with this area for 150 miles blacked out.

The Colts, with an 8-3 record, can gain clear title if they win.

But if they lose—and the San Francisco 49ers win over Green Bay and the Chicago Bears take Detroit—there will be a three-way tie for the division crown.

The Colts take the field with their usual troops.

That means the Rams will have to contend with quarterback Johnny Unitas, halfback Lenny Moore, fullback Alan Ameche and such dangerous pass-catchers as Ray Berry and Jim Mutscheller.

The Rams have absentee due to injuries. Their offensive unit will have Billy Wade at quarterback, with Joe Marconi replacing Ollie Matson as the starting fullback.

Jon Arnett and Jim Phillips go at halfback, with Del Shofner and Leon Clarke on the flanks.

Writers Favoring Pro Rules In College Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The men who watch the game from the press box think college football should copy the professionals.

Colleges should put the goal posts on the goal-line and return to the free-substitution rule, these observers said emphatically in The Associated Press' post-season football poll.

Queries about current and proposed rules, the nation's sports writers and broadcasters were almost solid in their dissatisfaction with college standards.

Of the 166 who expressed opinions in the poll tabulated today,

12 said colleges should go back to the two-platoon system and unlimited substitutions.

Only slightly fewer—108—said the goal posts should be put on the goal line, as the pros have it.

Under present rules, a player may reenter the game only once during a quarter but there is provision for specialists to be shuffled in and out when the clock is stopped under a so-called "wild card rule," tried for the first time this year.

Asked about the effectiveness of the "wild card" rule, the voters replied—10 to 1—that they were in favor of it if limited substitution could not be achieved. A few said they noted little difference.

East Junior Rolls To 2nd Victory, 42-22

East Junior High rolled to its second straight victory of the season with a 42-22 verdict over Wellsville Thursday at Wellsville.

Sparked by Tom Kraft and Roger Linville, East Junior gained a 15-7 lead at halftime and then spurred out in front 27-14 at the end of three periods.

Kraft paced Coach Dom Cascio's Panthers with 12 points while Linville followed with 11 markers. Steve Baldwin, younger brother of Wellsville's former great Dan Baldwin, topped the Tigers with 12 points while Dash added 7.

In an eighth grade contest played at East Junior High, Westgate defeated East, 22-20.

Oliver with 9 points and Ruth's 7 paced the Westgate five while Mercer dropped in 8 for the losers.

Midland Rips Westgate Five

Midland Junior High coasted to a 34-12 victory over Westgate Thursday at the Midland gym.

The victory was the second in three starts for Coach Phil Tridico's Midland five while the game served as the opener for Westgate.

Midland grabbed an 8-4 lead at the end of the first quarter and was in front by a 20-6 margin at halftime.

Chudenko and Perkins were the big guns for Midland. Chudenko dropped in 16 points while Perkins added 12.

McCoy had 7 for the losers.

Four More Teams Open Up

Heavy 12-Game Schedule Set For District Tonight

Four more district squads will launch their 1959-60 basketball campaigns tonight during a heavy slate of 12 games.

Opening their seasons will be East Liverpool, Chester, Leetonia and Lisbon.

The Potters meet Alliance, while Chester travels to Beaver.

Lisbon faces the tough task of stopping the Wellsville Tigers in a game at the county seat and Coach Len Batcha sends his Leetonia five against North Lima.

Coach John Robinson's Newell quint is the busiest team this week, playing its third game in four days. The Vikings entertain New Cumberland at the Wells High gym.

In other games around the area, Midland's talented Leopards go after their fourth straight victory with Ellwood City invading the new Midland court.

Wellsville's starting lineup is intact with Bob Kiggins expected to lead the way as the Tigers seek their first win after dropping the opener to Midland.

Coach Max Tuttle of Chester is very doubtful whether or not two of his first stringers will be able to play tonight at Beaver. Bob Shaffer and John Steele both have been hit by the flu and may not be ready.

Saturday's schedule, headlined by the East Liverpool-Wellsville tilt, shows four games.

Other games will find Fairfield-Waterford at Salineville in what should be a real close battle.

Beaver Local will visit United in an inter-county rivalry, while Lisbon will travel to Goshen Union.

Vikings Meet Cumberland Tonight

Northwestern Pins Second Defeat On Newell, 64-39

A fast-breaking Northwestern quint handed Newell its second straight setback, 64-39, Thursday night at Darlington.

Northwestern led all the way as Coach John Robinson's Vikings went down to its second defeat after losing the opener to Salineville earlier this week.

Newell will be shooting for its first victory when New Cumberland invades the Wells High gym tonight.

The Vikings fell behind, 19-7, at the end of the first quarter, trailed 37-17 at halftime, but came to life in the third quarter and trimmed the lead to 10 points, 44-34.

Northwestern went on to outscore Newell, 20-5 in the final eight minutes.

A brother combination of Sonny and Skippy Vosovic paced Northwestern with Skippy tossing in 15 points while Sonny collected 10.

Bable and Brown each chipped in with 12 points for the winners. Mickey Staley and Ron Nolan shared honors for the Vikings with 9 points each while Ron Dunlevy added 8.

Northwestern made it a clean sweep by winning the reserve game, 38-20.

Groza Could Play Longer Only Kicking

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lou Groza, veteran of 14 rugged seasons of professional football, thinks he could play several more years if his activity were confined to place kicking.

For the past 10 campaigns, Groza, who will be 36 next month, has been a starting offensive tackle as well as the Browns' place kicker.

A sore back which developed this season kept him on the bench part of the time and limited his kicking ability. He has made five of 14 field goal attempts and has kicked 29 extra points for a total of 44 points. That's his lowest output since the Browns quit the old All-American Conference to join the National Football League in 1960.

Groza points out that "specialists like Ken Strong and Ben Agajanian kicked until they were 40."

However, he adds: "I haven't talked to Paul (Coach Paul Brown) about it and don't know how he feels about carrying a player just for place kicking."

I haven't lost my desire to play football. I still like it but I know my limitations and capabilities."

Groza and Warren Lahr, 36-year-old defensive back, are the oldest players on the Cleveland roster.

New Pro Grid Chief Wanted Baseball Post

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Joe Foss, commissioner of the new American Football League, says that as a child he wanted to be baseball commissioner.

"Of course my thoughts were of baseball then, but pro football now has gained great popularity, and I am proud to be commissioner in it," he said Thursday at his first Dallas press conference.

Foss, 44, was a Marine air ace in World War II and served two terms as governor of South Dakota.

The eight-team league starts its first season in 1960 and Foss said one of his biggest problems is "getting coaches and players lined up so we can get our teams on the field."

He expects the signing of players, which has been happening almost daily, to increase after the bowl games are over.

Foss does not expect a fight between his league and the established National Football league or the Canadian League.

"But I think I'll recognize a fight and know what to do," he said. "I think the other leagues will realize we are here to stay."

Philadelphia's Eagles Rehired Shaw As Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League announced today that Coach Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw has been rehired for the 1960 season.

Terms were not disclosed.

The silver-haired 60-year-old Shaw said he was "indeed happy" to be asked to return. He made it clear, however, he would retire from the coaching profession at the end of the 1960 season. The former Notre Dame star lineman has been coaching since 1922.

Quarterback Norm Van Brocklin would be his likely successor.

"It is a distinct pleasure," Shaw declared, "to return as head coach for the Eagles for the 1960 season which will be my last as a football coach. This 1959 Eagles' team has great potential and is a championship team in the making."

"But more than that, they are a wonderful group of boys and it is my pleasure to coach them. They have tremendous spirit and give all they have. No coach can ask for more."

Shaw took over the Eagles in 1958 after nine years as head coach of San Francisco 49ers and two years as mentor of the Air Force Academy.

You don't hear as much about the former Louisiana State All-American now as you did a year ago.

St. Louis Coach Ed Macauley said today Pettit is scoring at about the same pace as last year but that 7-1 rookie Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors is stealing the spotlight because he is new and can't be stopped in the scoring race.

Chamberlain was in good form again Thursday night in spite of an injured left foot. He dumped in 34 points to lead the Warriors to a 131-112 victory over Cincinnati in the second game of a Convention Hall doubleheader.

The Stilt's output boosted his league leading total to 788 points in 22 games—seven more than Cincinnati's Jack Twyman, who led the Royals in scoring Thursday night with 29.

In the opener, Cliff Hagan hit for 31 points and Pettit 24 to hoist the Hawks to a 129-111 triumph over Detroit.

Lucas Tallies 30 Points In Ohio State's 5th Straight Win

Buckeyes Pin First Loss On St. Louis Five

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
If Big Jerry Lucas wasn't enough to make Ohio State look tough, Larry Siegfried now has come along to keep the Bucks unbeaten in major college basketball. With the 6-8 Lucas scoring 30 points under the boards and Siegfried, 6-4, popping in 22 points from the outside, Ohio State won its fifth in a row Thursday night, spilling previously unbeaten St. Louis 81-74 on the Billikens' home court.

While Lucas dueling with the Bills' 6-10 Bob Nordmann under the boards, Siegfried, who had been averaging less than 13 points a game, hit six of seven shots at the half, 44-38. The Billikens, who had overcome 13 and 4-point deficits while defeating St. John's (NY) and Kansas State in their last two games, three times led by one before Nordmann fouled out midway in the second half.

Lucas, the much publicized soph who has had folks talking since he was an Ohio high school ace, had only a 16-15 scoring edge on Nordmann at the half. Nordmann, who had been averaging 18 points a game, finished with 17, while teammate George Burkel, 6-7, scored 20.

Georgia Tech stretched its two-season winning streak to 12 games with its fifth victory of the campaign, a 70-64 road success over South Carolina. Unbeaten Utah State won its fourth, 71-66 at Iowa State after trailing the previously undefeated Cyclones by one at the half.

Miami of Florida, which had won 10 in a row in a streak carried over from last season, was handed its first loss in five games this season, 84-77 at Centenary. Western Kentucky (3-0) jarred Seton Hall's hopes for a big comeback, 78-69.

Beaver Local Wrestlers Throw South Side, 45-8

Beaver Local High's wrestling team turned its attention to an important match next week with East Liverpool after thumping South Side, 45-8, for its second straight triumph Thursday afternoon at Williamsport.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's matmen scored victories in 16 of 18 events, including five exhibition matches. O'Rourke's strong lightweights continued undefeated as the Pennsylvania wrestlers triumphed in only an 88-pound match reserved for the Quaker State schools, and a 154-pound event.

South Side received its eight points when Broadmerkel pinned Fisher of Beaver Local in his season's initial match, and Baker defeated Mike Hall, 7-5, in a 154-pound match.

Beaver Local's Carl Hoppel, 120-pound defending state champion, remained undefeated by decision-ing Seik of South Side, 6-0. The sophomore star is competing this year in the 133-pound bracket.

The Beavers will be battling to preserve their unbeaten skin and for a share of local prestige in their next meet Wednesday afternoon at 4 against East Liverpool at Memorial Auditorium.

Timmons, Passage, Yost, Dunn, Campbell and Cook all scored pins against their opponents for Beaver Local. Passage pinned Burner of South Side in 1:43 for the quickest fall of the match.

The results follow:

88-Pounds — Broadmerkel (SS) pinned Fisher (BL), 4:25.
95-Pounds — Cook (BL) pinned McLaughlin (SS), 3:19.
103-Pounds — Timmons (BL) pinned Tellish (SS), 3:57.
112-Pounds — Passage (BL) pinned Burner (SS), 1:43.
120-Pounds — Hickman (BL) defeated Miskuk (SS), 5-0.

127-Pounds — Yost (BL) pinned Davis (SS), 1:44.
133-Pounds — Hoppel (BL) defeated Seik (SS), 6-0.
138-Pounds — Dunn (BL) pinned Barrett (SS), 1:48.
145-Pounds — Greathouse (BL) defeated Glogowski (SS), 14-10.
154-Pounds — Baker (SS) defeated Hall (BL), 7-5.
165-Pounds — McBane (BL) defeated McLaughlin (SS), 4-2.
175-Pounds — Campbell (BL) pinned King (SS), 4:47.
Heavyweights — Matheny (BL) defeated Allison (SS), 3-0.

Exhibition
112-Pounds — Goforth (BL) defeated Hobbs (SS), 3:15.
120-Pounds — Mays (BL) defeated Armstrong (SS).
127-Pounds — Bookman (BL) defeated Crouch (SS).
138-Pounds — Rick Hoppel (BL) pinned Matchett (SS).
145-Pounds — Stacey (BL) pinned Tellish (SS).

Florida Takes Charge
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida has become the first state to have its motorboat numbering system approved by the U. S. Coast Guard. The Coast Guard has ceased numbering pleasure motorboats used principally in Florida. Boat accident reports are now made to the nearest Florida county sheriff instead of the Coast Guard.

Rocky Marciano Going To Fight? Calls In Trainer

DALLAS (AP) — Rocky Marciano's former trainer said Thursday he would meet the former heavyweight champion in Florida next week to help him work out.

Charlie Goldman, 71, said "I got a call from Rocky just a week ago. He said he had a friend who owns a gym down in Fort Lauderdale and would I come down for a few days. Said he'd like to do a little work. I'm going to meet him in Miami right after this fight."

Goldman came to Dallas Thursday with Garvin Sawyer, a heavyweight who meets Donnie Fleeman in a 10-round bout here Monday night.

"I don't know whether he just wants to feel himself out or what. But it's the first time he's called me about working with him at all," Goldman said.

Springfield Trips Stars

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Springfield's American Hockey League-leading Indians walloped the league All-Star team 8-3 Thursday night, scoring five goals in the third period.

The 11 goals is the most ever scored in an AHL All-Star game.

Bill Sweeney and Dennis Olson each scored twice for the Indians.

The game started as if the stars from the other six clubs might skate away from the Indians.

Cleveland's Fred Glover scored 46 seconds after the opening faceoff and Larry Wilson of Buffalo scored at 9:45 for a 2-0 edge.

But Ian Cushman scored at 10:47 and Olson fired one in at 12:27 and the stars never again led.

Gump Worsley in the Springfield cage turned aside 36 All-Star shots.

Just before the game AHL President Richard Canning suspended Buffalo's Bob Bailey for 12 games for hitting the Indians' Ted Harris with a stick in a game last Sunday. Bailey had been given a match penalty, with an automatic $100 fine Sunday. Five years ago he was fined $500 and suspended for hitting an official in a playoff game.

Injury-Riddled Bruins Trim Red Hot Leafs, 6-3

By The Associated Press
The injury-riddled Boston Bruins have served notice to the rest of the National Hockey League that they're back on winning ways.

The Bruins trimmed the red-hot Toronto Maple Leafs 6-3 on home ice Thursday night in the only game played. The victory only was Boston's second in 14 games while the Leafs went down to their fourth defeat in their last 16 games.

Boston, still without defenseman Fernie Flaman and winger Johnny Bucyk, scored four times in the opening period. Guy Gendron, Doug Mohns and Bronco Horvath sparked the Bruins.

Gendron and Mohns collected two goals apiece and Horvath picked up three assists. Horvath, the league's scoring leader, has accounted for 38 points on 21 goals and 17 assists.

Don McKenney and Charlie Burns rounded out the Boston scoring. Larry Regan, Bob Pulford and Dick Duff were the Toronto marksmen.

Rod Thorn Pockets 29 As WVU Frosh Win 4th

PRINCETON, W. Va. (AP) — Home town boy Rod Thorn put in 29 points to lead the West Virginia University Freshmen to a 99-88 victory over the West Virginia Tech Jayvees last night.

The freshmen broke a 30-30 deadlock and went ahead to stay with seven minutes left in the first half. At halftime, their lead was 62-50.

Besides Thorn, three others on the team shot into double figures: Mike Wole, with 14 points; Dave Shuck, with 13, and Don Weir, with 10.

It was a fourth straight victory for the freshmen.

Destroying Gambling Equipment Is Delayed
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Gambling equipment valued at $20,000 cannot be destroyed until Ralph Smith, 43, is tried on a charge of possessing the devices. Common Pleas Judge John M. Kelly Thursday turned down a request by Prosecutor John Ballard that the paraphernalia be destroyed.

Smith, of Franklin Twp., is free on $1,000 bond. He is scheduled to appear Dec. 18 in Barberton Municipal Court for a preliminary hearing on the possession charge.

Cincy To Meet St. Joseph's Five Tonight

By The Associated Press
Now it's your turn, Bearcats. Tonight Cincinnati, half of Ohio's two-pronged bid for national basketball laurels, can take up where the other half left off Thursday night. All-America Oscar Robertson and his Bearcat playmates match 3-0 records with St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in an effort to elbow back into the limelight that Ohio State has hogged on its 81-74 conquest of St. Louis.

The Buckeye triumph on a foreign court over a hightaired, previously unbeaten foe furnished the proof that OSU's chances of a banner season are for real.

Cincinnati, rated near or at the top of the collegiate cage heap before essaying a dribble in the 1959-60 campaign, can fortify its claims by an impressive victory tonight. Robertson carries a 41.3 points per game average and the Bearcats take a 513 team field goal shooting mark into the St. Joseph's fray.

Ohio State's sharpshooters hit at a 454 field clip in trimming St. Louis and big Jerry Lucas' 30 points upped his average to 26 per game.

A little guy also is carving himself a piece of the state's individual scoring pie. Bowling Green's 5-11 Jimmy Darrow popped in 32 points Thursday night for a four-game total of 139.

Darrow's efforts were in a lost cause as DePaul trimmed Bowling Green 74-68. A Falcon rally late in the game closed a 14-point gap to 65-62 but the BeeGees couldn't keep it up.

DePaul shot 44.8 per cent from the floor while Bowling Green hit only 35.4 per cent.

In northeastern Ohio, John Carroll successfully fought off a challenger for the President's Athletic Conference basketball title in defending, downing Western Reserve 86-78. The Blue Streaks snapped a 71-71 tie as John Doyle and Chuck Cybulski led the late Drive. Heidelberg was an Ohio Conference victor, trimming Otterbein 67-60. Duane Warns paced the Student Princes with 25 points. Both squads are 1-1 in conference play.

Rickey Plans Bid For Dallas-Fort Worth In League

DALLAS (AP)—Branch Rickey, president of the new Continental Baseball League, will arrive here Dec. 21 to try to sell the Dallas-Fort Worth area on a baseball team in the league.

Rickey will confer with civic leaders and potential backers in Dallas, Fort Worth and Arlington.

Allen Russell, owner of the Austin club of the Texas Baseball League, hopes to line up about 25 backers in this area. He said sale of revenue bonds for construction of a bi-county stadium "might not be as difficult as a lot of people think."

J.W. Bateson, owner of the Dallas team in the league, recently decided he could not generate enough interest in the idea of a club here. He refused to try to promote the club by himself.

Ex-U.S. Attorney Aide To Hear Ore Ship Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jerome N. Curtis, former assistant U.S. attorney, has been named to hear damage claims resulting from the sinking of the ore carrier Carl D. Bradley.

U. S. Steel Corp., which owned the Bradley, last week agreed to settle the more than 16 million dollars in claims for $1,250,000. The suits were filed by relatives of the 33 crew members who went down with the ship and by the two survivors of the sinking during a storm on Lake Michigan in November, 1958. Curtis will recommend apportioning of the settlement among claimants.

DiSalle Learns He Won't Have To Pay Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle learned Thursday he doesn't have to pay a bill for $200 to a Nelsonville doctor who operated on the broken hip of an 83-year-old welfare patient.

The surgeon had misunderstood the governor's offer last Nov. 7 to pay only for the anesthetic after another doctor balked because of a low fee he said the state previously paid him. It turned out a substitute anesthetist had agreed to donate his services free.

Johansson May Become Free Agent In Boxing

NEW YORK (AP) — Politician-promoter Vincent J. Velella's legal troubles may make heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson a free agent.

At least that was the viewpoint of Johansson's advisor, Swedish promoter Edwin Ahlquist, when he learned Velella had been indicted by a New York county grand jury on a two-count charge of perjury.

Ahlquist today insisted Johansson is as eager as ever to give ex-champion Floyd Patterson a return fight.

There are at least two reasons for Ingo's desire to take on Patterson again. The unbeaten Swede dropped Pat seven times and stopped him in the third round at Yankee Stadium last June 26. Ingo thinks Floyd will be just as easy the second time. And secondly, the Swedes believe they can make the most money with Patterson.

If Velella and his group are bypassed, there are several other organizations anxious to sign Ingo. These include Joe Tepper's New York firm, which wants to stage a Johansson-Patterson return at Yankee Stadium in June, and the two rival British promoters, Jack Solomons, now at Goteborg for talks, and Harry Levene. Solomons and Levene each have offered Johansson more than $200,000 to defend his crown against British champion Henry Cooper in London this spring.

Velella, who holds the contract for the Johansson-Patterson return, Thursday pleaded innocent on the indictments and was freed in $1,000 bail to await trial. No date was set.

The indictments stem from investigations by the grand jury and New York State Athletic Commission into the promotion of the first fight.

In the indictment, Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan charged Velella, an East Harlem Republican leader, with being "a front" for Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno, an ex-convict and underworld figure, in the June promotion.

Wildcat Star Granted Extra Eligibility

CHICAGO (AP)—Athletic Director St. Holcomb of Northwestern, elated that the Wildcats' star quarterback, Dick Thornton, has been granted an extra year of eligibility, today seeks another concession at the Big Ten business meetings.

Holcomb, chairman of a committee surveying the financial aid plan, will review findings and is expected to urge that such aid be granted without the need factor.

He argues that help to athletes, based on a need ratio determined by financial statements filed by parents, is opening the door to outside recruiting.

The brilliant Thornton, considered a strong All-America candidate after a sensational 1958 sophomore year, led Northwestern to a 45-13 victory over Oklahoma in the 1959 opener.

The following week, the Wildcats began their Big Ten grid campaign at Iowa. Thornton took the opening kickoff, tripped on some loose sod and broke an ankle that shelved him for the season.

Because he saw only nine seconds of conference competition, faculty men granted him another year of eligibility, giving him two more years in all.

Other items put over until today's session include a report from the TV committee on a 3-year 3-million-dollar offer to televise Big Ten football, basketball and other sports, and action on controls of future Rose Bowl participation.

Faculty men made it clear Thursday that athletic control is firmly in their hands and not divided with athletic directors.

White Sox Pick Up Veteran Mike Garcia

CHICAGO — Mike Garcia former Cleveland Indian hurler today was signed as a free agent by the Chicago White Sox.

Garcia, a big winner for the Tribe in the early 1950's, was released by Cleveland after the 1959 season in which he had a 3-6 record in 72 innings. He made eight starts and had one complete game.

'Payoff Day' Scheduled In Pin Tournery

CHICAGO (AP)—Today is payoff day in the World Invitational Bowling Tournament and it looks like a dog fight is shaping up for the finish of the nine-day $30,000 ten-pin marathon.

As the 16 men finalists start firing their final 16 games of the 64-game head-to-head competition, three of the country's top bowlers were closely bunched at the top.

Leading after 48 games was Bill Golembiewski, of the A. B. C. champions from Detroit. He held onto the top spot he had taken Wednesday although he lost four of his last eight games.

His lead was slim and his closest competitors were seasoned pros, Ray Bluth and Don Carter, both of St. Louis.

Golembiewski's Petersen point total was 240.31 on the strength of 30½ games won and a total pinfall of 10,506. Bluth A.B.C. masters champion, had 239.33 points with his 30 wins and 10,483 pinfall.

Carter, 1957 world champion and four times all-star titleholder, had 236.27 points. Carter, runner-up in last year's world tourney, vaulted into third place after a poor start both in the qualifying rounds and in the first rounds of match play. He had won 27 of his first 48 games and has knocked down 10,477 pins.

Golembiewski and Bluth split their four-game series Thursday and each split their final two series. Carter wound up his productive day by sweeping four games from George Howard of Detroit with a brilliant 944 series. Carter, who lost 7 of 8 games on opening day of match play, won 11 of 16 Thursday.

The tourney will be nationally televised tonight (9 p.m. CST NBC) replacing the regular Friday night boxing program.

In the women's division, Donna Zimmerman, 26-year-old Akron, Ohio, office worker, moved into the lead after 12 rounds of shooting. She replaced Olga Gloor of Chicago and led with 113.17 points to 112.39 for the Chicago housewife who had been in the lead since Tuesday.

The women end their shooting today with four two-game matches.

Backs Feature NAIA Eleven

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Four classy backs, who scored touch-downs at a dizzying pace, feature the 1959 all star football team of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The first team backs announced today are Garney Henley of Huron (S. D.) College, who scored 141 points the past season and has a four-year career total of 394; Gary Campbell, the NAIA's total offense leader from Whittier (Calif.) College who scored 90 points; Lee Farmer, Lenoir Rhyme College, 110 points, and Rusty Addelman, College of Emporia, 123 points.

Lenoir Rhyme, top ranked nationally among NAIA teams, landed two berths on the first team. Besides Farmer the Hickory, N. C. school scored with tackle Charles Sanders. Lenoir Rhyme will play Texas A. and I College in the Holiday Bowl Dec. 19 for the NAIA championship.

The first string ends are William Cole, Whitworth (Wash.), and J. W. Lockett, Central Oklahoma; tackles Sanders and William Beck, Gustavus Adolphus (Min.); guards Gerald Lambert, Texas A. and I; and Arnold Branch, Langston, (Okla.); and center Jerry Fornoff, Western Illinois.

The mythical first team line averaged 210 pounds per man; the backs 194.

The NAIA all star team is chosen by a committee after nominations from coaches of the 32 districts in the organization.

But All Favor More Money

Commissioners To Oppose Property Taxes For Roads

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The County Commissioners' Assn. is all in favor of more money for county and township roads as long as the additional aid doesn't come from the real estate and personal property taxes.

The association declared Thursday that it will oppose any Highway Department recommendations to the 1961 Legislature involving use of these taxes for highways.

In other action, the group elected Roy A. Stillwagon, who lives on a farm near Warren, its new president. Louis Salvador of St. Clairsville is first vice president.

The county commissioners said they wanted highway support to continue to come from levies such as vehicle license fees and gasoline tax.

License fees, totaling about 75 million dollars a year, are allocated to local governments, minus the administration costs of the Department of Highway Safety. The allocation breakdown is 34 per cent to municipalities, 5 per cent divided equally among the 88 counties, 47 per cent to the county in which the vehicle owner resides, 9 per cent to the counties on the basis of county road mileage and 5 per cent to townships.

on the basis of township road mileage.

Part of the 7-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax also is allocated to local government.

Highway officials are planning a survey to determine road conditions and the cost to repair them and build new ones. The survey reportedly will suggest to the next Legislature means of distributing not only the revenues but the tax burdens as well.

The new association officers suggested that the Highway Safety Department be financed in some other way in order to gain highway revenue.

With the Ohio Education Assn. and the Ohio Municipal League, the association will study exemption from the county tax base of real property in Ohio used in business for profit—such as a government-owned, but privately operated, factory. The association may recommend legislation to allow such property to be placed on the tax base.

Elected at Thursday's final session of the commissioners' 79th annual convention were G. Grant Brown, of Bryan, second vice president; Marion Brown, Fremont, treasurer, re-elected, and George W. Taylor of London, secretary, re-elected.

Packing Firm Refuses Delivery Of Meat

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cee Bee Packing Co. Thursday refused delivery of 20,000 pounds of meat, some of it flecked with silt from a marsh near Port Clinton. The beef, valued at more than $12,000, was held in refrigeration at the Lake Motor Freight Lines, Inc.

Charles B. Cohn, Cee Bee president, said the shipment was being driven by refrigerated truck from the company's Chicago facilities when the big trailer overturned on Ohio 6 and went into 18 inches of water. City Health Department inspectors said the meat showed it had been immersed. It was to have been distributed to several supermarket chain stores here.

Cohen's Pal To Face Arraignment Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sam Frank Locigno will be arraigned today on a murder indictment in the slaying of a bookie who used his fists to collect debts.

The county grand jury returned the indictment Thursday. Locigno, 33, a liquor salesman and associate of ex-gambling chief Mickey Cohen, says he killed Jack (The Enforcer) Whalen in self defense Nov. 25.

The shooting occurred in a crowded restaurant in suburban Sherman Oaks at a table where Cohen and his friends were sitting.

Ceiling Falls On Court, Judge Gets 'Plastered'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The ceiling fell in on city court Thursday—really.

And Judge W. H. Gilmartin got plastered—actually.

He was treated for cuts on his head and hands, but they weren't serious enough to damage the judge's humor.

"Well, I guess someone didn't like the way I fined them," said the judge.

Lawyers and others concerned in the traffic case leaped clear of the falling ceiling.

Burglars Grab $1,700 In Police Confusion

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—When Stella Starkey heard burglars in a drug store underneath her apartment she telephoned both city and county police.

Because of confusion over the location of city limits city police mistakenly thought the store was in the county. They arrived 18 minutes after the call.

County police thought it was in the city. They arrived 1½ hours later.

The safe—minus $1,700 in cash and checks—was found abandoned later.

Odd And Interesting
By W. L. GORDON

In 1781 Duncan Phyfe, one of the most famous of American furniture-makers, set up shop in New York. Furniture and furnishings manufacturing today is big business — as shown by the fact that over $11½ million worth of national advertising was placed in newspapers in 1958.

Pastors Among Kiwanians

Club Panel Probes Morals

The hypocrisy and materialism in everyday life and the role of the minister and layman in the community's moral character were among religious matters aired in a panel discussion at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

On the panel were four members of the city Ministerial Association who are club members—the Rev. Marc Nocerino, the Rev. Rudolph Miller, the Rev. James Hunton and John Mostoller.

REV. NOCERINO of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church began the discussion with an accusation that "there is a great difference between what we say and think and what we actually do."

He charged that people of today are not following the teachings of the Bible in everyday life, are not living the word of God, and thus, are "two-faced" with respect to Christianity.

Rev. Miller of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church declared that laymen have only a sketchy knowledge of the Bible and its teachings "and Christianity is based upon the Bible."

He said he recently submitted to his congregation a Bible quiz of 22 questions, similar to one administered by a mid-West pastor to another church membership. He said while the mid-West congregation's average grade was 30 per cent, "Biblical illiteracy" the city church's average was 54 per cent.

REV. HUNTON of the Church of the Nazarene said the recent Senate investigations have shown how materialistic many people have become, and how "greedy and selfish" humans can be.

He said it is the role of the church to place value upon the human as an individual and the spiritual side of life. "The picture of a minister as having a soft life in the pulpit is distorted," he declared, pointing out ministers must serve long hours visiting the ill, aiding the families of those who have died, serving as a marriage counselor, smoothing domestic difficulties and filling many other duties.

Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ, discussed preaching and said this most public function of the minister is also the one most misunderstood.

"Preaching is not a moral lecture, an ethical discourse or an effort at keeping up the morals of the community."

HE SAID preaching is the delivering of God's message, enlightening men to the facts that only God can bring forth and a reaching into history of what God has done. "It is giving a message to Man on how he can relate himself to God."

In a question-and-answer period, Eugene Hall asked Rev. Nocerino about "an accusation I have for the ministers." Hall asked, "Are modern ministers not becoming too commonplace instead of being leaders? Are we looking at four men or ministers teaching the word of God? Are you blaming the laymen or the leaders?"

Rev. Nocerino said he and other ministers feel that there should be more leadership from the pulpit, and that most believe Hall's "accusation" is justifiable. He pointed out pastors are a part of the world into which they are born—not one which they created—and many feel they are not meeting fully the burden of their spiritual responsibilities to laymen.

HALL SAID many ministers are seeking to be popular with their congregations and community instead of teaching the hard and fast principles of religion.

Rev. Nocerino said he agreed, adding he feels the minister should be outspoken in his own beliefs. "I had a member of my congregation tell me not to 'step on any toes,' adding that I was supposed to confine myself to spiritual matters, and that religion had nothing to do with everyday life."

Rev. Miller commented wryly, "There are two things one shouldn't preach in the pulpit—religion and politics."

Ed Maloney asked if the ministers believe they should take more active roles in the community's moral life. Rev. Miller said he feels they should, "by inspiring and teaching the laymen."

SUPT. RALPH Betts asked what could be done about the moral failing and hypocrisy. Mostoller said, "There is no pat answer, but I believe the churches could de-emphasize many of the activities which drain away energy from more important religious things. There should be fewer social events and more spiritual centering."

Rev. Hunton said many churches are returning to more fundamental teachings. "Ministers have a terrible sense of frustration in that they find that men, no matter how they vouch for truth and morality, too often forego them."

Norman Nicely declared lay people must shoulder a lot of blame. "Although most of the ministers in town urged congregations to back councilmen in passing an anti-gambling law Sunday, there were two councilmen who received no calls at all."

MOSTOLLER said churches could profit by having lay people take over many of the administrative duties of ministers, thus freeing the pastors for the work which they were called to do.

John Eiferd warned that if ministers delivered "right-from-the-shoulder sermons," they would lose the support of many members of the congregations.

"They would say they didn't like his sermons, and declared they wouldn't give him any money. Well, I say that isn't their money to hold back—it doesn't belong to them."

Rowland Kaufman, president, thanked the panel and said the discussion left other questions hanging so that the theme may again be taken up sometime. The luncheon was held at the Travelers Hotel.

Mr. K's Grandchildren Seen In Free Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. predicts that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's grandchildren will live in a free Soviet Union.

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations thus reversed Khrushchev's recent boast that the grandchildren of Americans will one day live under communism.

Lodge, speaking Thursday before the annual convention of the Life Insurance Assn. of America, also maintained that the U.S. can outstrip the Soviet Union in any race—economic or otherwise.

East Firemen Pick Officers

New officers of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department were elected at a meeting Wednesday evening at the Dixonville station.

They include Edward Burns, to succeed Paul Cunningham as president; Robert Badger, vice president; John Laitsch, secretary; William Smit, treasurer; Robert Parker, trustee for three years; John Conley, a member of the firemen dependents' Fund Board.

Robert Badger, assistant chief; Harry C. Smith, captain, and Smit, Cunningham, Kenneth Ketchum and Paul Hauldren, lieutenants. New officers will assume duties Jan. 1.

A special meeting has been set for Sunday at 2 p. m. for discussion of proposed purchase of a new fire truck, Smith reported.

Plans for a Christmas party for neighborhood children were reported progressing. It will be held Dec. 22 and Santa will give treats and toys to the children and there will be free coffee and doughnuts for parents. A movie, "Nature's Children," provided by the Standard Oil Co., will be shown.

Due to the holidays, the meeting Dec. 23 was canceled and the next will be Jan. 6.

The next fire school session will be Thursday at the West station in LaCrosse. During the holidays, the school will be held Dec. 22 at the East station and Dec. 29 at the West station.

Some 23 attended. Cunningham presided.

How They Fare With Big Companies

Probers Look Into Small Firms In Drug Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators sought to learn today how smaller firms fare in competition with the big producers of name-brand prescription medicines.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee called Seymour Blackman, secretary-treasurer of the Premo Pharmaceutical Laboratories, Inc., of South Hackensack, N. J., to tell about it. Rand Dixon, subcommittee counsel, described Premo as "not small, not large, but successful."

He said he plans to explore with Blackman the effect on smaller competitors when the larger companies launch big advertising and promotional campaigns in behalf of their own patented brands, and whether the bigger firms' handling of new medicine patents has any restrictive results.

The subcommittee raised the question of whether advertising circulars sent to doctors by the big pharmaceutical house of Merck & Co. Inc., made unwarranted claims for an antiarthritis steroid it markets under the trade name of Decadron.

Dr. Louis Lasagna, head of the Johns Hopkins University division of clinical pharmacology, testified he thought the circulars improperly claimed an absence of side effects from use of the drug.

He also said he thought excerpts from the advertisements, as read to him by a subcommittee economist, implied a safety for Decadron that "I don't think it possesses."

In contrast, Dr. Philip S. Hench of the Mayo Foundation, who shared in the 1950 Nobel Prize in physiology and medicine, testified Merck's advertising was not misleading. He said doctors would understand it. Dr. Augustus Gibson, medical research director for Merck, said the company followed through by distributing full and detailed reports on how patients reacted to Decadron. He, too, said doctors would understand language in the advertising.

Earlier Lasagna said the average physician now is being inundated with advertisements about new drugs and is incapable of evaluating the material. He called it "an almost insuperable problem" for a doctor.

How to swallow a bitter pill

First, find a bitter pill. There are so few nowadays. It all started because children, bless 'em, are so good at resisting bad-tasting medicine. You can medicate their chins or hair, but getting the stuff in them is beyond the ken of science. Kids can spit a country mile. So pharmacists began sugar-coating pills, putting medication in capsules, or mixing with sweet syrup. And we soon found that adults, too, like medicine the easy way. So now, most of our prescriptions are quite pleasant to take. If you should run into one of the few bitter ones, believe us, there are good medical reasons for it.
